Shaw told the three judges who constitute the royal commission investigating the circumstances of the riot that at least 1,000 relief camp workers were evicted from camps in British Columbia in December, 1934, because they had gone on a two-day strike in support of demands which a delegation they had chosen was taking to the government at Victoria. Mussolini Adds to Home Defences as French and British Negotiators Report No Consent to Any Broad Settlement Plan for Ethiopia and Mediterranean Given at Rome; Tension Over Sanctions Grows

Associated Press
Rome, Dec. 4.—Troops which had been expected to depart for the southern Ethiopian front are still in Italy amid a general tightening of home defences, usually well-informed sources said to-day.

All naval leaves also have been withdrawn by Premier Mussolini, it was reported reliably. Some of the sea forces were believed by informed quarters to be concentrating at strategic points against the possibility of Mediterranean hostilities.

The third arm of Il Duce's defences—the air force, one of the most powerful of all—entered into the programme of reinforcement under orders by the cabinet that all vacancies be filled.

Speculation arose immediately that troops held back from the East African warfare, and sea and air forces were being marshalled for any eventualities arising from European tension over application of League of Nations sanctions on Italy.

Canadian Press
Paris, Dec. 34.—Premier Laval was described in authoritative quarters to-day as waiting for an indication that Premier Mussolini of Italy or Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia is ready to talk before submitting a plan for settlement of the war in East Africa.

French officials, denying any plan yet drafted, indicated they considered economic rather than territorial advantages were essential to Italy.

While reports in diplomatic circles of proposed territorial grants were scouted, the possibility was admitted that Italy might gain territory in the determination of the frontiers of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. The exact lines of demarcation are disputed.

ETHIOPIANS GET MACHINE GUNS

Asmara, Dec. 4.—The latest available figure to Italian headquarters here credit the Ethiopians with 7,500 Belgian rifles, 350,000 cartridges and 150 machine-guns and 750 Hotchkiss machine-guns, recently arrived.

Another recent shipment contained 200,000 rifles, 1,000 pistols, 400 machine-guns, 300 trench mortars and 5000 hand grenades.

An unknown number of Colt machine-guns, 30 Maxim light machine-guns, 500 Maxim heavy machine-guns, 25,000 Mauser rifles, 10,000 machine-gun rifles and 15,000,000 cartridges are also credited to the Ethiopians.

The warriors are supposed also to have 2,800 Vickers machine-guns and 500 Lewis machine-guns coming. Their equipment also includes uniforms, medical stores, barbed wire, saddlery and portable radio facilities.

The laying out of stores and the first stages of the packing will get under way about the middle of next week. The rear end of the garage building, separated from the rest by a wide doorway, will be used as the packing room. The middle section will serve as storage space for full and empty hampers. Warned away in this manner were thirty to forty cars and ten to fifteen trucks, he stated.

EVANS TO VANCOUVER

Canadian Press
Regina, Dec. 4.—An effort will be made to round up witnesses and evidence in the interests of the On-to-Ottawa trekkers case at the Regina riot inquiry by Arthur Evans, one of the leaders of the trek.

Mr. Evans announced to-day he would leave at the end of the week for Vancouver for this purpose. It may mean a winter ride by box car for him. He will seek evidence regarding the store demonstrations of the strikers when they were in Vancouver.

Another episode for which evidence is sought is the reading of the Riot Act by Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver.

The strikers are seeking to get citizens and members of the trekkers now in Vancouver to tell about these incidents. Evans will also try to locate fifteen or twenty alleged camp workers to tell their stories to the inquiry.

He will request that the Royal Commission conducting the investigation pay his transportation on this mission. He added he would go in any case, "even if I have to ride a freight."

The commission ruled yesterday that it would consider sending one of its own counsel to Vancouver to marshal evidence relating to the inquiry. This ruling followed a refusal to send Evans, who was suggested by Frank Cunningham, strikers' counsel, as the logical representative to go.

NEW WHEAT BOARD CHOSEN

APPOINTMENT YESTERDAY
Appointment of the new personnel was made at a meeting of the cabinet late yesterday. Action was taken following receipt of the resignations of John J. McFarland, D. L. Smith and H. C. Grant, all of Winnipeg, named to the board by the Bennett administration last August.

Mr. Murray has been vice-president and general manager of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company.

LONG IN FIELD

James R. Murray, the new chairman, has been identified with the grain trade in western Canada since 1909. Born in Limerick, Ireland, in 1885, he came to Canada when twenty-four years of age. For years he was assistant general manager of the United Grain Growers Limited. In February, 1930, resigned from the U.G.G. to become secretary of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. He resigned in August of the same year to become general manager of the Pacific Grain Company, a position which he now holds.

Like Mr. Murray, George H. McIvor has been identified with the grain trade for many years. In 1927, he was appointed general sales manager of the central agency of the Wheat Pool, a post he held until John J. McFarland was appointed general manager of the pools in 1930. Mr. McIvor then became Mr. McFarland's assistant, and has been closely associated with all stabilization efforts in the wheat market, which Mr. McFarland undertook on behalf of the federal government. He was born in Portage la Prairie, Man., in 1899.

BORN IN ONTARIO

Three Men Back In Jail After Fight

concessions to end the Italo-Ethiopian war.

The latter said M. Laval would seek an agreement with the British Foreign Secretary on how much Ethiopian territory to offer Premier Mussolini of Italy as a basis for peace. The former, however, said such a concession would be impossible.

Officials said the League of Nations could not grant Italy anything more than economic advantages under an international arrangement.

FIRST STEP AWAITED

A high source said no offers would be submitted to premier Mussolini until he or Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia should take the first step.

An informed source said: "The oil embargo undoubtedly would be imposed with a possible delay of a week in its application."

French and British experts, studying a possible plan for an Italo-Ethiopian settlement, were reported to have split over terms for a peace proposal, leaving the problem up to the Foreign Office heads.

The French favored giving Italy the territory in northern and southern Ethiopia already occupied by Italian troops, but this suggestion was rejected by the British as too generous, informed sources said.

The British were reported willing to propose merely an exchange of lands between Ethiopia and Italy, whereas Ethiopia would give Italy part of its territory and would receive an outlet to the sea.

The deadlock was generally considered hopeless.

Canadian Press and Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—The British government has not had the slightest hint that Premier Mussolini is ready to talk peace, it was stated in authoritative quarters to-day.

Until it is known that Il Duce is in a receptive mood, these quarters said, the British government feels no progress can be made either on suggestions from Rome or for advancing the terms now being worked out by Anglo-French peace experts in Paris.

OIL FROM U.S.

Associated Press
Washington, Dec. 4.—Out of a tangle of reports and statements concerning United States neutrality, this point emerged to-day:

Italy apparently will continue to receive American oil, though the volume of the shipments of this commodity to that nation at war remains to be seen.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes has recorded himself as in line with a present administration policy of keeping hands off "normal" shipments of goods to Italy and Ethiopia.

In New York, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey said, for effect, that it was continuing to supply oil to its Italian subsidiary, however, its president, Walter C. Teagle, denied vigorously a published report that Standard, through an Italian subsidiary, had guaranteed Mussolini a supply of petroleum for the duration of the war in return for a valuable monopoly.

Secretary of State Hull, however, has dealt with another point in the United States neutrality policy by threatening quick legal action against arms makers and exporters who fail to register with the State Department.

ITALIAN DENIAL

Rome, Dec. 4. (Associated Press).—The Italian government issued the following communique to-day through the official news agency:

"Several American and English newspapers have published news regarding a supposed petroleum monopoly which the Italian government was said to have conceded to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. This news is completely devoid of foundation."

(The report referred to mentioned a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.)

Canadian Press from Havas
Cairo, Dec. 4.—Between February 21 and November 23, Italian ships carrying 242,000 troops and laborers passed through the Suez Canal on their way to east Africa. During the same period 5,500 were invalided to Italy through the canal.

ETHIOPIAN FIGHTS GROW

By VINCENT LAVOIX
For the Ethiopian Agency
Harar, Dec. 4.—Ethiopian generals were convinced to-day a counter-offensive must be undertaken before the Italian southern armies are finally driven back into Somaliland.

Way of the army for the army led by Gen. Rodolfo Graziani to trap into a trap prepared between Harar and Daga Bur, the Ethiopian leaders dispatched a considerable force southward toward Dolo.

representations it was for a mortgage for Mrs. Bernard, but which was never paid over to her.

CANCELLATION REPORTED

Aho testified the interest on the mortgage was paid until last year, when he received only part of it. He said he was informed by Mrs. Bernard she had signed papers for the mortgage, but later had cancelled them and had not received the money.

Aho said he had approached Senator Plante and the latter had promised to repay the $700. Aho declared this was done.

Mr. Mather testified the Aho cheque had been deposited to the credit of the firm and Aho had been credited with the amount. All had been properly accounted for in the books he examined. Witness testified the company had operated at a loss for the last year of its existence and the senator had personally absorbed the losses, paying out of his own account the necessary funds. The senator knew nothing of bookkeeping, Mr. Mather explained.

"BEARER" CHECKS

Recalled to the stand, Aho said that at the time of the transaction he did not know the meaning of "bearer" on a cheque. His cheque had been made out to "Mrs. Irma Louise Bernard or bearer."

The assizes were adjourned until 3.30 p.m., when court convened this morning. It is expected disposition of the other charges pending against Senator Plante will be made at that time.

Hon. Albert E. Plante was born in Australia in 1886. He came to Canada when eleven years old, settling with his family at Nanaimo, where he was educated.

He was mayor of Nanaimo for eight years and held office as president of the board of trade and the school board for various terms. He was called to the Senate in 1917.

DR. A.A. FORBES PASSES AWAY

The next day, while prospecting on the mountain, Dr. Forbes shot a buck deer and as the animal kicked considerably before it died it disclosed good copper prospects. Dr. Forbes bought the area.

The copper battle was not won, however, for the B.C. Government, to which he sent samples, decided the area and a second area on Texada Island in which he had invested had no commercial mineral. His claim at Britannia the doctor later sold and when the area was finally disposed of and its value recognized, he was refused a part of the last sale price.

His Texada property, however, was prospering and he finally sold out at a good figure.

IN MINNESOTA

Before the year 1900, the doctor and his wife moved to Minnesota, where Dr. Forbes returned to his laboratories, with a little mining prospecting thrown in. In 1912 he returned to Vancouver and went to Powell River as doctor. He retired in 1930.

He was born in Scotland and entered the British navy at the age of thirteen. He left the service ten years later after cultivating a taste for chemistry. He settled in Connetquot and soon became a normal school teacher, married, and later took up a medical career.

His wife died ten years ago and he has no surviving children.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon, with interment in Capilano View Cemetery.

TWO MURDERED AT NIGHT CLUB

U.S. Revenue Agent and Ex-detective Slain in Oklahoma; Three Arrested

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 4.—A federal revenue agent, Louis Pappan, forty-two, and George Stewart, thirty-nine, former Tulsa detective captain, were shot to death at the swanky Sheridan Night Club here early to-day after they had been thrown from the place by two "bouncers."

After a preliminary investigation, County Attorney Holly Anderson declared the shooting was "worse than murder."

The two "bouncers," Tyne Parks and G. R. McCullough, declared Pappan and Stewart had attempted a holdup. The men were arrested and Roy Stanley, manager of the club, was placed in jail later.

Harry Brill, Pappan's immediate superior, said the agent's work was "such it might take him anywhere at any time."

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Harry O'Donnell, charged with the murder of Ruth Taylor in an east end ravine November 4, was committed for trial to-day by Magistrate R. J. Browne.

At the preliminary hearing to-day, continued from last week, Dr. I. H. Erb, pathologist, was cross-examined by Frank Regan, counsel for O'Donnell. The physician again testified regarding bloodstains found on O'Donnell's clothing and also particles of hair or fibre that showed "no essential difference" compared with those on the girl's sweater.

Dr. Erb could not swear they were the same particles.

FLIGHT OF GOLD GREAT IN FRANCE

BRITISH LOAN QUICKLY GIVEN

Associated Press from Havas
London, Dec. 4.—Great Britain's national defence loan of $1,500,000,000 was entirely subscribed by noon to-day.

The first section of $500,000,000 at 1 per cent redeemable in 1939-41 was entirely subscribed at the opening at 9 a.m. The remaining $1,000,000,000 at 2½ per cent redeemable in 1956-61 was covered by noon.

Part of these proceeds will go into the rebuilding of Britain's navy, including the construction of three new battleships.

Admiralty circles disclosed yesterday evening the new battleships of the same tonnage as the battleships Renown, would be constructed unless an unexpected agreement is reached at the naval conference.

They expressed no hope for an agreement on a lower tonnage for capital ships, and it was believed certain the first step in the new defence programme would be to strengthen the capital fleet, considered Britain's outstanding weakness in naval defence.

Britain's latest battleships, the Nelson and the Rodney, cost more than $80,000,000 each.

WIDE SEARCH FOR CONVICTS

McAlester, Okla., Dec. 4.—National guardsmen, G men, citizens' posse, prison guards and police officers joined in a widespread search to-day for five desperate federal prisoners who broke jail at Muskogee yesterday.

Four of the five were members of the notorious Irish O'Malley gang of kidnapers and robbers. The fifth was under a seven-year Mann Act sentence.

All engaged in the search were ordered to "shoot to kill."

While reports came from other sections of the state that three members of the band had been seen in widely separated areas, officers concentrated search in the Windfall Mountain country south of here.

They expressed confidence the prisoners were trapped in that area.

NOMINATIONS IN VANCOUVER

Thirty-one Candidates For City Council and Other Elections Dec. 11

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—Thirty-one candidates filed nomination papers to-day for thirteen vacancies in the Vancouver city council and the school and police board to be filled at the civic election, December 11.

Prof. F. E. Buck, member of the school board who was seeking re-election, was disqualified because he failed to file his certificate of endorsement from the land registry office.

Two members of the city council whose terms close this year will not seek re-election. They are Ald. A. C. Cowan of Ward Three and Ald. Thomas Wilkinson of Ward Twelve.

Ald. A. G. Harvey, who previously had indicated he would not be a candidate, filed papers for re-election in Ward Eight.

Candidates are assured for all the six vacancies in the council, the four on the school board and the three on the police commission.

TAYLOR CANDIDATE

Ex-mayor L. D. Taylor, swept from office last December when G. G. McGeer, K.C., gained the majority by a tremendous majority, is a candidate for alderman in Ward Five, opposing Ald. L. D. McDonald and Thomas Brivner.

Citizens will also vote on two plebiscites. They will be asked if they favor reducing the council from twelve to eight members and if they favor aldermen elected at large instead of by wards.

FISHING CRAFT BURNS AND SINKS

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—The fishing boat Takla took fire yesterday evening at Deepwater Bay, just north of Seymour Narrows, and was sunk in ten fathoms. It was reported to-day. The vessel was in command of her owner, Capt. Christian Parkvold of Vancouver, who was sailing her from Prince Rupert, B.C., to Vancouver for overhaul.

The boat's crew escaped safely, but further details were not available.

The vessel was built in 1928, and was fifty-seven feet long, valued at $20,000 and insured.

Nanaimo, Nov. 4.—At the assizes here to-day Chief Justice Morrison traversed all charges against George Hannay, former provincial police officer who, with W. H. Jones, is charged with breaking and entering, to the spring assizes.

Hannay faced two other charges, one of retaining possession of articles alleged to be the property of the local branch of the Union Oil Company and the other the unlawful possession of a stone-mason's hammer said to be the property of W. H. Wheeler.

Company Heads Get Big Pay

W. S. Knudsen Received
$211,128 From General
Motors in U.S. Last Year

Associated Press
Washington, Dec. 4.—General Motors top-flight salary list—showing total payments of $100,000 to $200,000 annually to ranking officers—was made public yesterday evening by the United States Securities Commission over the company's protest.

It revealed that William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president, drew $211,128 in salary and bonus last year, and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president, $201,743. Twelve others received more than $70,000, with a sharp drop from that figure to $25,000 or less for some twenty directors.

Knudsen's total remuneration consisted of $120,000 in salary and $91,128 in bonus. Sloan's included $118,800 salary and $82,743 bonus. Bonus payments consisted of cash and common stock. Other high total compensation figures, all to vice-presidents, were:

Donaldson Brown, $134,687; John L. Pratt, $134,527; Charles F. Kettering, $140,495; Lawrence P. Fisher, $124,218; John Thomas Smith, $125,212; Richard H. Grant, $118,802; James D. Mooney, $118,306; William A. Fisher, $110,568; Albert Bradley, $98,253; Ormand E. Hunt, $98,003; Charles W. Wilson, $98,018; Charles F. Fisher, $78,840; and John J. Schumann, $71,631.

The advance of the Italian forces in northern Ethiopia had carried them as far as Makale when Ray Roussau, NEA Service staff photographer, took the above picture. The invaders were entering the city after the withdrawal of the Ethiopian troops. Now it is said the Ethiopians are about prepared to stage a major battle on the northern front.

Canada Directing Own League Course

Rumors That Britain Had
Share in Dr. W. A. Riddell's
Oil Sanctions Suggestion
Or Ottawa's Statement on It Denied at London

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Dec. 4.—Two rumors current regarding the Canadian government's attitude toward oil sanctions against Italy were emphatically denied in British official circles to-day.

The first is that the Canadian government sought British approval before disavowing responsibility for the suggestion of Dr. Walter A. Riddell to the League Committee of Eighteen that oil, coal, iron and steel be added to the sanctions list.

The second rumor is that Dr. Riddell, permanent Canadian representative at Geneva, made his proposal on the inspiration of the British delegation.

Both rumors are declared here to be absolutely without foundation.

INDEPENDENT ACTION
"Canada is an independent member of the League of Nations and acts on her own authority," was the comment made to the Canadian Press in an official quarter. "She is too big for tutelage."

While still extremely reluctant to do anything which might be interpreted in the remotest degree as interfering with what is considered a matter of purely Canadian concern, the point is taken here that it was quite improper to call a proposal like Dr. Riddell's a Canadian government proposal. Proposals in League committees are not normally considered as formal proposals for individual governments, but rather as suggestions to the committee from the delegates. The proposal proper comes from the committee as a whole.

The British delegation itself, it was pointed out, has in the past suffered from misunderstanding in this regard.

Man Falls In Mine; Loses Life

Nelson, B.C., Dec. 4.—Joseph Nicholson, twenty-eight, Reno Gold Mines Company employee, lost his balance and plunged 200 feet to instant death in the bottom of a shaftway in a raise at the Nugget-Motherlode property yesterday.

Nicholson, Ivor Chalk and James Ferguson were working at the head of the shaftway by which material was being transferred from one level to the other.

Nicholson was a native of England, where his mother, Mrs. J. Nicholson, still lives. He came to the Reno from the Grange Mine, Mile 150, near Prince George.

New Motor Fuel Source in U.S.

Associated Press
New York, Dec. 4.—A plan by which a group of chemists believes 50,000,000 acres of idle farm land may be put into industrial use was exemplified yesterday at the fifteenth annual exposition of the Chemical Industry.

One display shows the possibility of making alcohol out of Jerusalem artichokes, a vegetable which is claimed can yield 250 gallons of the liquid fuel an acre. The alcohol, formed by a chemical process, would be mixed with gasoline to make an engine fuel.

An attempt to make the raising of tung oil trees an important American farm industry is another part of the council's plan.

LONG SENTENCE FOR SEATTLE MAN

But No Big Influx For Social
Credit Payments, Say
Officials

Associated Press
Seattle, Dec. 4.—Presiding Superior Judge James B. Kinne yesterday sentenced August Mehlhorn Jr., fifty-six, former real estate broker, to thirty years in the state penitentiary.

The small, grey-haired former prominent businessman showed no emotion as sentence was passed. He had pleaded guilty to two counts of grand larceny, for each of which he was given fifteen years. Five other counts were dismissed.

Mehlhorn, who was arrested in Oakland, Cal., last July 16, after a five-year disappearance, was charged with misappropriating $4,600 entrusted to him.

NEW TAXES IN ALBERTA

Wage Levy and Sales Tax
Are Expected to Be Recommended

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Dec. 4.—Establishment of a provincial wage tax such as already is levied in Manitoba and British Columbia and study of a provincial sales tax will be among chief recommendations of the Alberta taxation inquiry board when its report is presented to the government late this week, according to reports.

The report, it is understood, will recommend that Alberta co-operate with other provinces in efforts to secure the right to enact a general sales tax act and that this be followed by a study of the advisability of imposing such a provincial tax.

"Dividend" Lures Many to Alberta

Province Asks For More Accommodation in Federal Camps For Single Men

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Dec. 4.—Despite reports from Calgary that scores of single "obless" men were drifting into that city from the east and west to enter camps and establish residence in order to be eligible for social credit dividends of $28 a month, when such are paid, similar conditions do not prevail here, according to provincial relief officials.

"The movement is not any greater than at this time in other years," said one official. "Of course a number are coming in, and we have tried to combat the idea they might establish residence here in order to be ready for payment of basic dividends." Representations have been made by the province to the Dominion authorities to increase the strength of the camps supervised by the Department of Defence in order to absorb a larger number of unemployed single men in this province, it was learned.

At Calgary a relief commission survey indicated that the lure of $25 a month has made Alberta cities the mecca of many end-of-the-year trekkers who used to make their winter base on the Pacific Coast.

The number of "homeless single men" in relief camps in British Columbia this winter is approximately 2,100 less than last year, population of the camps being 4,200 last month, as against 6,300 in 1934. Relief officials, however, could not guess whether this was because of the tendency of westward drifters to stop in Alberta and wait for social credit "dividends." Part of the decrease is due to the absorption of men in jobs.

EMPLOYMENT AIDS URGED

Twentieth Century Liberal Association Suggests
Guidance For Youths

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Steps designed to make it easier for young people to obtain jobs were urged on the Dominion Government by the Twentieth Century Liberal Association yesterday.

R. A. MacDougall of Woodstock, Ont., and Miss Odette Lapointe of Quebec, joint presidents, held a conference here with members of the administrative committee of the association and sent a resolution to Labor Minister Rogers. It proposed methods for dealing with unemployment among young Canadians "who have in many cases never had a job in spite of their having trained for many years in our schools and colleges."

The recommendations are:

1. Co-operative machinery of government should be set up by the provincial or federal government, or both, to study the problem of unemployment among young Canadians.

2. Educational systems should provide machinery whereby young people entering school or college should be advised by competent officials as to their choice to study and career.

3. Governmental machinery should be provided to help place young graduates of high schools, business and technical schools and colleges in touch with opportunities for work at their vocations in Canadian industry, business life or professions.

R. W. GRIGOR OF ROSSLAND DIES

Former Member of Customs
Staff Succumbs in Seventy-fifth Year

Canadian Press
Rossland, B.C., Dec. 4.—Robert William Grigor, seventy-four, a resident of Rossland since 1896 and prominent in the early stimulation of lead production in Canada, died yesterday.

He was born in Morayshire, Scotland. He moved to Windsor, Ont., in 1886, engaging in building contracting, and to Rossland, in 1896, as a federal building inspector on construction then in progress.

Twenty-five years ago he entered the service of the Department of National Revenue in the excise branch and when that branch closed its Rossland office he was transferred to the customs branch, in which he remained until his retirement in 1929.

Mr. Grigor was a friend of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and managed several campaigns for the Liberal Party in this section of the province.

The widow, one daughter, Mrs. Harold Marshall, Vancouver; four grandchildren in Vancouver, and two in Victoria, survive him.

JOBLESS IN U.S. ARE 10,900,000

Official Estimates of Position in September Made Public

Associated Press
Washington, Dec. 4.—Semi-official estimates on unemployment, which have been in use for some time by the United States government, but were kept a secret until to-day, declare 10,915,000 persons were jobless last September.

They also say that 5,000,000 persons, formerly jobless, have found work since March, 1933.

The figures originally were compiled for President Roosevelt's committee on economic security by Robert R. Nathan, its consultant on unemployment statistics.

Although 5,000,000 persons had found work by September, according to the estimate, the unemployment rolls had been cut little more than 4,000,000 because nearly 1,000,000 new recruits were added to the employable population between March, 1933, and September.

OIL, CANADA AND THE LEAGUE

IF THE EXPORT OF OIL TO ITALY were prohibited the war in Ethiopia would end very shortly. It is feared in some quarters, however, that an embargo on this commodity would transfer the seat of hostilities to a wider field, although it is hard to believe that Mussolini, crazed for conquest though he is, would be insane enough to open a conflict with the members of the League, many of whom are much more powerful in every way than Italy is, and capable of imposing a military blockade which would wreck Fascist aspirations in short order.

If oil were included in the sanctions now being applied by the League against Italy, Canada's interest in the embargo would be mainly through her membership of the Geneva body, and her concern for the performance of its covenant, since she is not an oil-exporting country. As a member of the League she already has put into effect such sanctions as have been adopted, but considering the fact that she does not export oil, that she has no special interests directly menaced by Mussolini's policy, as Great Britain and other European powers have, there should have been no need for her delegate at Geneva to have taken the initiative in moving for the embargo on this vitally important product. Canada did not initiate the economic, financial and other sanctions which were approved by the League. Why should she, thousands of miles away from the scene of conflict and controversy, assume leadership in the most drastic proposal directed against Italy up to this time?

Mussolini has declared that he would regard the imposition of an oil embargo against Italy as an act of war. If he really meant this, Canada, through her representative at Geneva, would have been the spearhead of the movement which led to the larger conflagration unless her government dissociated itself from the initiation of the issue. In fact, not even the Canadian Government should be permitted to commit the Dominion to extreme courses likely to involve war, much less to initiate them, without first securing the approval of the Canadian people through their Parliament. Even if Il Duce is bluffing, the same principle should be strictly observed. Before Canada can participate in a war under any conditions, whether within the orbit of the League of Nations or even within the British Commonwealth, her government must call a special session of Parliament and secure its approval. The corollary to this should be that before she can take the lead in a measure which might produce war, she should first adopt a similar procedure.

The Canadian Government has made it plain that Dr. Riddell, Canada's delegate at Geneva, did not speak for it when he moved that oil be included in the sanctions against Italy. The Canadian representative therefore must have acted either on his own initiative in the belief that since Ottawa had adopted the other sanctions approved by the Assembly it would adopt an embargo on oil, or at the suggestion of others who did not want to father the proposal themselves. Incidentally, Great Britain and France, Roumania and Russia, all League members, are exporting oil and other products to Italy, and it is common knowledge that even articles under the accepted embargo are reaching that country from member states, while there is nothing to prevent non-member states which have not adopted neutrality regulations shipping anything and everything Italy needs. France opposes the oil embargo and there is a difference of opinion in the British ministry about it.

While delegates to Geneva must have wide latitude in the expression of their views, especially in committee, there are very few who are empowered to commit their countries to definite proposals without specific instructions from their governments. This has been true in the case of all of the sanctions which have been adopted to date. With the exception of delegates from Hungary and Austria, all of the representatives in the Assembly of the League approved in principle of the recommendation from the Council that sanctions be applied against Italy, and a committee was chosen to determine what these should be. But all of the governments whose delegates voted for sanctions have not adopted the prescribed penalties in their entirety, while some that have must be aware that by devious means their countries are still exporting prohibited commodities to Italy and importing goods from Italy by way of colonies and benevolent neutrals.

There is no sense in the League adopting sanctions if they are not adequate to serve the purpose set forth in the covenant, and undoubtedly they can not be made adequate in the sense of bringing the war in Ethiopia to an early end unless oil, rubber, cotton and certain other products are included among them; but, while Canada as a member is entitled to propose any expedient to meet the situation which has arisen provided in the covenant of the League, the responsibility of initiating the most far-reaching measure which has yet been proposed, short of naval and military action, and which none of the countries most directly affected by Mussolini's course apparently cared to assume, should not devolve upon this Dominion, at least, without Parliamentary approval first being obtained.

PAYING ADVERTISING

RECENTLY THE OFFICIALS OF THE British Post Office made public the value of the amount of extra business it had done as a result of newspaper advertising in connection with a publicity campaign for the purpose of extending its mail, telegraph and telephone services.

The press officer for the department said it was logical for the Post Office to use the newspapers because they provided "the most valuable shop window it was possible to have for the display of reliable goods." This official declared that the telegraph service had been revived by newspaper advertising, making it more actively used than at any time since the war; it had sold 190,000 telephones and secured 121,000 new subscribers, thus involving an additional revenue of approximately three-quarters of a million pounds ($3,750,000); it had remarkably increased long-distance calls; and it had stimulated the parcel-post business so that it was estimated the Post Office would carry 13,000,000 more parcels this year than last.

Apart from this record as a striking accomplishment in itself, Sir Donald Banks, Director-General, said as a result of this newspaper advertising, the Post Office had increased its staff by 8,000, its wage bill had gone up three million pounds ($15,000,000), and its profits had increased by nearly one million pounds (nearly $5,000,000).

This increased business as it affects the British Post Office department alone, of course, is only a part of the story. It naturally has meant more activity in those industries which supply the equipment for the postal and allied services.

THE NAVAL CONFERENCE

NEXT MONDAY IN LONDON THE representatives of Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy, Germany and Japan will meet to discuss naval armaments. In the present mood of the time this gathering will hardly come under the category of a naval disarmament conference; it will be, from all reports, a meeting of the chief naval powers to consider what form of levelling-up process will pass muster among the tax-burdened peoples; how much more may be spent on the implements of war without serious public repercussions.

It will be recalled that at the Washington Naval Conference of 1921-22, Great Britain and the United States agreed to take an even cut on naval armament and that Japan would take what has been called the short end of the bargain. The deal was known as the 5-5-3 ratio—the three being Japan's allotment. Then came the London Naval Treaty of 1930, which decreed a ratio of 10-10-7, with Japan still wanting more than the seven.

The Japanese government has denounced these agreements, and now demands all-round equality. This is the atmosphere in which representatives of six nations will meet at St. James's Palace in London next Monday. To put it into a few words, here is what the six nations will consider respectively:

1. Great Britain: Committed to increasing the Royal Navy by adding at least twenty cruisers and building up the Battle Fleet.
2. United States: Committed to parity with Britain, but differing widely as to the type of ships needed for American purposes.
3. Japan: Committed to parity with the United States, but not believed to be financially able to match American parity with Britain.
4. Germany: Committed, by separate agreement with Britain, to a fleet not more than 35 per cent in total tonnage of the British Navy.
5. France: Committed to a large programme of new construction to insure superiority over the resurgent navy of Nazi Germany.
6. Italy: Committed to a programme of colonial expansion in Africa and charged with an aim to make the Mediterranean a "Roman Lake."

It is pointed out by one commentator that "the key to this maze of parity in sea power rests in the pudgy hands of Admiral Osamu Nagano, fifty-five-year-old Supreme War Councilor and chief Japanese delegate to the London Naval Conference. Amid the sparring and jockeying for equality on the waves, Nippon holds 154 under-age warships, totaling 650,315 tons."

This compares with Britain's 156 under-age ships, totaling 998,208 tons, and exceeds in number America's ninety-one, totaling 734,300. But Britain is building fifty ships, totaling 165,350 tons; America forty-four, totaling 280,150 tons; and Japan only eight, totaling 115,807 tons. So Japan, further along, comparatively, in building up to treaty limits, wants to scale down the two rival navies to achieve parity with its own. To attain treaty limits by the end of next year, Britain must build 90,697 tons more of warships, America must build 71,135 tons, and Japan only 2,078.

One of these days we may arrive at the conclusion that all the money which is being spent on war machinery may be better employed in the cause of prevention of human suffering. It is the hope—forlorn though it may be—that the gathering in London next Monday will not break up without some display of sanity.

If the money which is being spent in war material could be spent in the relief of human suffering, what a fine world this would be!

This is just a reminder: The local Gyro Club is getting the odd shekels together to help it to pack hampers for those families in Victoria who are in need. Every little bit counts in this worthy cause.

"Reason is Treason in Germany," says a headline in a mainland contemporary. This is not difficult to understand. But one of these days reason will unveil treason—in Germany, as in any other country.

The newspapers tell us that Great Britain is able to borrow money at the lowest interest rate in the history of the country. And then, out of the deep economic haze, it is revealed that most of it is to be used to pay armament manufacturers! What a life in the waning days of 1935!

If China should invoke Articles 10 and 11 of the Covenant of the League of Nations against Japanese aggression she will put Geneva on an uncomfortably warm spot. China is a member of the League, and is as much entitled to its protection as Ethiopia, no matter how remote she may be from Europe.

Loose Ends

It's hard on your checkers, this habit of early rising—Ottawa is inspiring through the gloom—And the gloom has mostly lifted—Because they think here that we are on the verge of another boom—And, as usual, we all take ourselves very seriously.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SAD CASE

THE SWARTHY porter on the train, only half awake as we pulled into Ottawa at 6.10 a.m., was telling me just now that this continual lack of sleep was getting him down.

"What I mean is," he said, "that I am a checker player. Laws, yes. Not what you might call a first-class, hundred per cent, honest-to-god checker player, but above de average. Yes, suh! Mindful, you gotta be good to be good in Montreal, where I come from. Them Winnipeg fellas, they're all in. I mean, you can't do justice nor nothin' to checkers when you've only had four hours' sleep between Winnipeg and Montreal. It ain't fair to de game. So you know what I had to do? I had to give up checkers altogether. I just hang around de pool room now, stupid-like. I used to play checkers wid de boys, but now I just waste my day in Montreal. That's what lack of sleep kin do to a man! You gotta have your sleep if you're gonna do anything 't de world."

A sad case, I thought. A career blighted in the bud by lack of sleep.

NATIONAL MECCA
ONE ALWAYS arrives in Ottawa with lack of sleep, which may account for many of the strange things that happen here from time to time. According to an ancient custom, the train always arrives about 6 a.m., two hours before daylight at this season, and all you can do is to sit around and wait for Ottawa to awake. Ottawa hasn't shown any signs of waking yet, and it's nearly eight. If I were to ring any of my friends up now, they would be deeply offended by the crudity of an uncivilized westerner. Kindly, but firmly, they would hang up the phone and go back to bed. So I am sitting there in the Chateau, very hungry, looking out my window to the spires and turrets of the grand old East Block on the hill yonder, dim in the first light.

The government of Canada is centred there. The Privy Council sits under that green copper roof. Things go on every day which intimately affect your life and pocket-book. It is a solemn thought, when you have risen at 5.30 and are still without breakfast.

I remember the first time I arrived in Ottawa, a long while ago. It was twenty, below zero. Bledies hung about the windows and dangled from one's beard. Looking out through the grey, icy dawn, up there to Parliament Hill, I felt a great throb of excitement and patriotism which almost knocked me down and quite spoiled my breakfast. Here was the heart of the nation! Here was power, glamour, intrigue, romance! Here was centred and distilled and sanctified the great, unconquerable spirit of the Canadian people! Here were the shades of the great! I almost swooned at the thought of it.

But you soon get past the swooning stage. Also, you do. I can look out at the old East Block now without even a feeling of faintness. At the moment all I feel is hunger. That is always more distressing internally than the strongest patriotism.

Thus you see that it is a great mistake to let Canadians come to Ottawa. They should stay away and dream glorious dreams about it. That will make them patriotic. When they get here and see it all at first hand, they are sure to be just hungry. And so to breakfast.

AFTER BREAKFAST
IT IS A DIFFERENT Ottawa these days—not the Ottawa of eighteen months ago when I was here last. Then everyone was blue, in the depth of despair. Tempers were short, the air tense. No one seemed to know what was going to happen the next minute. Over all, behind all, through all, like a vague shadow, a kind of gloom, was the personality of Mr. Bennett. At that time he was the government, he was Ottawa. Many people made the mistake of thinking he was also Canada, as if Ottawa and Canada were of the same flesh—which they are not.

To-day the air is quieter, less dramatic, less tense, less mysterious. The great shadowy presence has gone. A new government is in, with all the shine and glitter of a new government. Mr. King is chief, but there is also a cabinet now with ministers. Critics of the ministry will say that the present happier feeling in Ottawa is just the usual honeymoon flutter of any new ministry. Anyway, whatever it is, Ottawa feels easier, is easier.

It is here, at the nerve centre, that you feel these currents. Out there, where you are, on the remote edge of things, the current is not felt so keenly—it has lost some of its zip on the journey. Here they feel things instantly, as soon as they happen—sometimes before they do.

Just now they feel better times. Rightly or wrongly, Ottawa feels a boom coming. Only the foolish among the men who deny this tendency. Men like Woodworth are wise not to see it. They believe that the boom will bust, the cycle will end and we shall have another crash by and by, but they recognize that the wheel has turned, for the present at least.

SOUND MONEY

YOU SOON notice also that there is no talk of monetary experiment down here as there is in Alberta and British Columbia. Ottawa is going in for sound finance, for old-fashioned thrift and economy, for balancing the budget. It is going to rely on no monetary experiments but on trade to pull us through. You may not like that, but you might as well make up your mind to it right now. What might be loosely called, for lack of a better name, the Meeker state of mind, is now definitely out. I am not recording this to praise or condemn it, but simply to relate what is going on here.

DIFFERENT PEOPLE

ONE IS in a different world down here—the world of the East as against the world of the West. That, of course, is a commonplace and well-known fact, but it is always a surprise when you come back to it again. The first thing you always notice is that the men dress better—more smartly, more like fashion plates. A man who passes for well dressed in Victoria or Vancouver would be shabby here. An ordinary native of Ottawa would be a top out there. The women likewise. (One can say it with comparative safety at this distance.)

Ah, yes, they take themselves very seriously down here. They give themselves airs. They consider themselves the centre of the universe, the presence at it out there. (Thank God.) You don't realize how stuffy it is to be civilized until you have tried it for a whole day, as I have been doing. It is evening now, and I am ready to bust with civilization. I am fleeing away from it on the only Canadian train that makes a habit of traveling seventy per cent down to Montreal and thence to New York, where they are refreshingly free from civilization.

DAYLIGHT SAVING
To the Editor:—There are some sixteen hours of daylight in an average July or August day. At least, three of these hours come before the average man leaves his bed. But the daylight ends some three hours before the same average man goes back to his bed.

By applying the principles of prevention of waste which every business man observes in his office, it is obvious that there could be nothing but gain in taking one of these hours out of the useless period of early morning and adding it to the useful period of the evening.

The people of Victoria will be showing their sound business sense in voting on December 12 for that extra hour of daylight in July and August when there is no school work to be interfered with by the change.

To the Editor:—In reply to one of Victoria's ardent enthusiasts of daylight-saving, let me air the views of an early worker. It is all very well for those lucky people, who go to work at 9 o'clock to want to start an hour earlier, but it's not such great fun for one who gets up at 5 o'clock to have to get up earlier. It simply means that all early workers will have to get to bed when the sun is still up in order to receive eight hours sleep—does that sound so hot?

These 9 o'clock workers speak of losing the hours of sunlight in which to have recreation. If they are so badly in need of play, why not get up at 5 a.m. and play their games of golf and tennis until working hours—does that sound so hot?

At least in this way they could receive not one hour of sunlight extra, but four of the best hours of the day.

SANTA CLAUS
To the Editor:—May I suggest through the medium of your columns that this idea of trying to foist alleged Santa Clauses on the children is not such good advertising as many seem to imagine. The seven-year-old and upwards are "insulted," the little tots are scared.

Indeed the only kids I have noticed enjoying these very artificial displays are those from my thirty-five years old onward.

My own little three-year-old girl cannot be induced to enter any so-called "toyland" at any price. Consequently we have had to try to teach her that "there ain't no Santa Claus" at all, but nevertheless she won't go.

Our latest stunt is to invent for her benefit a Santa Claus without whiskers. I have to take the idea and asked me to-day, very excitedly, to take her to see the toys, assuring me that it would be "awful" at this store "cause Sanna Kwags got no whiskers!"

New British-U.S. Trade Discussion
London, Dec. 4.—Great Britain and the United States have undertaken preliminary work for a reciprocal trade agreement, according to an authoritative source. The United States is one of Great Britain's best customers, while the United Kingdom is the greatest foreign customer of the United States.

This move follows on conclusion of a trade agreement between Canada and the United States. The two governments have had no exchange of views, understanding or conversations regarding the treaty, but it was learned independent surveys are under way in London and Washington to determine the practicability and benefits of a reciprocal agreement.

It is believed this work may be speeded up with a possibility of a conclusion next summer.

New York Is To Have March Song

Associated Press
New York, Dec. 4. — Mayor La Guardia is looking for "a snappy march song, typical of our city." He asked Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers and Publishers, to sponsor a contest to provide the martial tune. "Here is an opportunity for authors and composers to create a piece of work which will last forever," the mayor said.

STOP THAT COLD in a hurry!

TAKE Groves' BROMO QUININE

It's not a sign of wisdom or of will-power to suffer from a cold without taking measures to stop it at once. Even a slight cold can take hold quickly and develop seriously. The sensible thing to do when you catch cold is to treat it for what it is—an internal infection requiring internal treatment.

1. It opens the bowels gently but effectively.
2. It combats the cold germs and fever in the system.
3. It relieves the headache and "griping" feeling.
4. It tones up the system and helps fight against further attacks.

This is the kind of treatment a cold requires. Keep a box handy at all times for the prevention and treatment of colds. At the first sign of a chill or sneeze, take Groves'.

Every druggist has Groves'—but make sure you ask for Groves' Bromo Quinine when you purchase.

Rail Savings Are Advocated

Sir C. Gordon, Montreal Bank Head, Expects King Government to Forge Ahead

Canadian Press
Montreal, Dec. 4. — One of Canada's major problems is the railway situation, and to remedy it an end should be made to the "utterly unwarranted" competition and duplication of services—the main railway systems, Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal, declared in his address at the bank's annual meeting here Monday.

Progress in trade recovery had continued in Canada, but in less definite degree than in 1934, and in a general way he believed the gains of that period were consolidated, and in some instances enlarged. The building trades still lagged, however, he noted. That industry contributed in the largest measure to prevailing unemployment.

Sir Charles lauded the "apparent disposition" of those in public office to direct more attention to the development of the mining industry in Canada.

CANADA-U.S. TRADE TREATY
Enlarged commercial intercourse with all countries was at all times to be desired, providing that intercourse rested on fair and mutually advantageous terms, and Sir Charles felt such was the basis of the recently-effected Canada-United States trade pact.

Sir Charles thought the reaction to the strong expression of public opinion displayed in the Dominion election October 14 last was favorable. He ranked as second in importance to the Ottawa agreement, the repudiation of what he called socialist propaganda by the Canadian people. This, he said, enhanced the prestige of the Dominion abroad.

"Personally," he went on, "I look with hope to the new government to justify the confidence placed in it. Certainly no government since Confederation has been placed in such a strong position as the present government to carry through such measures as are plainly indicated to be necessary for the well-being of this country."

SALVATION ARMY DOES FINE WORK

Homes Across Canada Offer Food, Shelter and Cheer to Those in Need

Stretching across Canada, from Halifax to Victoria, there is a chain of institutions owned and operated by the Salvation Army, which are proving havens of hope and mercy. When one considers the work of the Army, with its Grace Hospitals at

PAIR WOULD DUEL DUCE'S SONS

Reported plan of the two sons of Worqeh Martin, Ethiopian minister to London, to challenge the two older sons of Benito Mussolini to aerial combat has stirred a storm of protest, with letters reaching Martin from all parts of the world, urging him to forbid the duel. Joe Martin, left above, and his brother, Ben, right, are skilled airmen and Mussolini's sons, Bruno, left below, and Vittorio, right, have several daring sky exploits to their credit on the northern Ethiopian front.

Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg, as well as in eastern Canada, and the rescue homes, children's homes, men's and women's industrial institutions, or any of the eighty-seven varied phases of the practical work that is carried on, and the staff of officers and welfare workers who are experienced in dealing with the needs of the people, it is realized that a Salvation Army service department is an indispensable unit in all the principal cities of the Dominion.

Locally, the Salvation Army, through its stores and hostel, is a Good Samaritan to many in these times of difficulty. The hostel is a shelter to many homeless men during winter. The record of this institution is one to which the Army points with satisfaction, so far as relief work is concerned. But it cannot say that a profitable business is being done. Indeed, the outgo on account of the hostel is considerably more than the income. Over 2,000 free meals were provided, 500 families were given food and fuel, 800 families supplied with free parcels of clothing and furniture, and approximately 4,000 garments were given away during the last year.

Army officers paid 107 visits to the police court and 415 visits and meetings in local institutions.

The Army officers engaged in that line of work have undoubtedly been responsible for the lifting back on the road to self-respect of hundreds of men in the history of the Army, and everyone so rescued is a testimony to the service it has been to the world. Food to the hungry, shelter to the homeless and a word of encouragement dropped at the right time will do wonders to the regeneration of the man who is down and may think he is out, the Army believes.

POLICEMAN FACES TRIAL

Toronto, Dec. 4 (Canadian Press). — "The use of firearms by the police is a very serious matter," declared Attorney-General Reebuck yesterday when he ordered that plainclothesmen James Leale of the Toronto police be prosecuted for shooting Nelson Gagnon, twenty-three, while arresting the youth on a car theft charge here October 28. Gagnon is in serious condition at a hospital.

These Tips Will Help Cook and Prepare Hunters' Game; Curbing Wild Flavor Is Secret of Difficult Task

The hunt breakfast, which is usually served in the afternoon, calls for the best napery, sterling silver service and china in the house. What else would do justice to the bag of game brought in by the mighty Nimrods of the household?

By MARY E. DAGUE

STILL the nimble hunter goes forth and comes back—sometimes with a grouse, a quail, a pheasant, a duck, a partridge, or a small game bird. If you have a duck press, maybe you make a ceremony of these occasions. Smaller sized wild birds are broiled, either whole or in halves, and served on toast. The larger ones are roasted in much the same way. Any size can be disjointed or cut in halves and cooked en casserole, braised, baked in a pie or fricassee.

One thing experience has taught me, and that is that no wild bird should be scalded in dressing. The skin is very tender and will tear easily. The steaming method does not injure the skin and is most satisfactory. Dip the bird in boiling water, shake and wrap at once in heavy brown paper or several thicknesses of newspaper. Let stand fifteen or even twenty minutes, unwrap and pull the feathers with quick jerks, pulling toward the tail.

Do not use the savory stuffing for domestic fowls in game birds. An onion, apple, a few uncooked cranberries, celery and butter—any of these materials is dropped inside the bird before roasting to give richness and flavor, then whatever is used is removed before serving. Wild birds have very little fat, so this must be added in cooking. A slice of bacon can be put inside the bird or slices of bacon or salt pork can be laid over the breast and legs.

CURBING WILD FLAVOR

The slightly fishy taste common to wild ducks can be overcome by rubbing them with a cut onion and putting a few uncooked cranberries or a little celery in each duck when roasting.

Guinea hen, although not a game, has a gamey flavor and is roasted like a pheasant. An onion, a few stalks of celery and two or three tablespoons butter dropped inside either guinea hen or pheasant before roasting gives a delicious flavor. This stuffing is not served.

Serve game birds with a tart jelly like currant, raspberry or wild plum or a sauce of currant jelly, orange or cranberry sauce. Wild rice is better with wild duck than are potatoes. A salad of crisp cabbage or celery combination, a full-flavored vegetable and fruit dessert round out the meal.

Many of the recipes for cooking squirrels have been handed down from mother to daughter. Game was relished by our forefathers, and cooking methods were painstakingly developed.

Brunswick stew is a famous dish. Following is an old, old Southern recipe: Chicken can be substituted for squirrel or a combination of both can be used when the squirrels were scarce for the hunter.

BRUNSWICK STEW

Three squirrels, 3 slices fat salt pork, 3 large onions, 3 large potatoes, 2 cups corn, 1 cup lima beans, 4 cups tomatoes, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 4 quarts boiling water, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

The original recipe uses green corn from the cob but canned vegetables are used with excellent results.

Clean and disjoint squirrels. Let stand in cold salt water to cover for an hour. Drain. Chop salt pork very fine. Put a layer in a soup kettle and add a layer of minced onions. Add squirrels and cover with remaining pork and onions. Add boiling water and simmer until tender, about three hours. Take out meat and remove every bone. Return to kettle with potatoes cut in thin slices, tomatoes, corn, beans, salt and sugar. Cook twenty minutes or until potatoes are done and stir in flour and butter rubbed together. Bring to the boiling point and boil three minutes, stirring to prevent sticking. Serve at once.

Declarer Makes Game by Rare Strategy, After Opponent Misses Chance to Set Contract

Here is another interesting hand sent to me by Earl Bryan of Cleveland. Lay the cards out as it has a number of very interesting variations.

The opening lead was the ace of clubs. West continued with the four of clubs which was won in dummy with the king.

If anything but a diamond is led from dummy the contract can be defeated. Watch the play with a diamond lead.

West naturally refused to win the first diamond but when the second diamond is played, he wins with the ace.

At this point there is a play that West can make that will still defeat the contract, but it does not look

FUMES FROM CAR KILL CLERGYMAN

Nelson, B.C., Dec. 4 (Canadian Press).

Overcome by carbon monoxide gas while apparently attempting to remove chains from the rear wheels of his car while the motor was still running, Rev. A. G. McMorris was found dead at New Denver yesterday.

The clergyman had recently taken charge of the Anglican pastorate at New Denver following a transfer from Michel.

The body was found at the rear of his car by school children.

The switch of the car was still on and the gasoline tank empty when the body was found.

This country produces approximately 500,000,000 pounds of cheese annually.

The Golden Feather

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

"It is not!" she snapped—and instantly became contrite at the hurt look in his eyes. "Oh, Bobby, I didn't mean it that way," she said, taking his hand. "But don't you see—I can't just drop everything and marry you until you're really able to take care of me. We can't jump into marriage until we're ready for it. Financially, I mean."

Instead of being wounded by this, Bobby only laughed. "That," he said with mock sadness, "is what I get for being in love with the daughter of a bank president."

She flushed, and laughed aggressively. "You always make me sound like a gold-digger," she protested.

"Well, I'm doing all right, these days," he said. "We could get along fine."

"Please, Bobby," she said. "Let's not argue about it to-night. Let's go dance somewhere, or something, and not quarrel."

"Good idea," said Bobby. "Look—how about going back to the Golden Feather again and seeing life in the raw?"

She hesitated and then told herself, "Oh, for pity sakes, what's the matter with you? You probably won't bump into Sandy there, and if you do, what of it?"

"All right—let's," he said, and they went out, got a taxi, and went to the night club.

The hour was early, and there was only a handful of people scattered about in the club. They followed the headwaiter to a table along the wall, and as they reached it, Bobby glanced idly at the couple at the next table. His face lit up with recognition, and Jean heard him say, "Why—hello there."

She looked. There sat Sandy, with a striking-looking girl in an expensive purple frock. Jean was astonished to discover that her first emotion, on seeing them, was a small, instinctive stab of jealousy. Sandy got up and beckoned to them.

"Look who's here," he said gaily. "Come on and sit with us. Here—" he motioned to the waiter to bring chairs. "This is Eva Lewis," he went on, addressing Jean and Bobby. The girl looked up and smiled in friendly fashion. "Eve, these are—" he suddenly stopped and grinned. "Dog-goned if I haven't forgotten your names," he said.

Jean instantly thought, "He remembers mine but he's forgotten

Bobby's, and he doesn't want Bobby to know." Bobby was completing the introduction, as this thought was going through her head, and a moment later all four of them were seated together.

If Jean had felt a twinge of jealousy it was evident that Eva Lewis did not feel any similar emotion. She was cordial and gay, and seemed genuinely glad that they had joined them, and Jean discovered presently that she was quite a likable person.

Perhaps the girl was made up with just a shade too much care, and her frock might have been molded to her figure with just a little too much fidelity to all the curves which it was supposed to conceal—yes, she really was a little bit flamboyant, perhaps—but she had a nice smile and a pleasant voice, and her attitude toward Sandy was not unduly possessive.

The orchestra began to play. "Will you dance, Miss Lewis?" asked Bobby. She got up. "Okay," she said. "And by the way, it's Mrs. Lewis." They glided off on the dance floor. Sandy turned to Jean with a quizzical grin. "Dance?" he asked. She shook her head.

"Let's just sit here, if you don't mind . . . and since when have you forgotten my name?"

His grin became broader. "That was all right, wasn't it?" he asked. She smiled and nodded.

"Your girl friend is nice," she said presently.

"Oh, she's not my girl friend," he said. "I'm holding that job open for you. She's the wife of a pal of mine. He's going to meet us pretty quick."

He looked toward the door. "There he is now."

A slight, black-haired man was coming toward them. He wore a carefully tailored dinner coat, and he seemed to be something of a dandy. He reached the table and Sandy introduced him as Mr. Lewis. He drew a fifth chair to the table. As he did so, Jean noticed idly that he lacked an index finger on the left hand.

CHAPTER VIII

Mr. Lewis, like his wife, seemed to be of a friendly disposition. He was gently jocose with Jean, assuring her that Sandy had been able neither to sleep nor eat properly since he had met her.

"All I've heard," he said, "since that other night, has been a lot of stuff about some beautiful mama with golden hair."

He sat slumped down in his chair and looked at Jean with sly impudence.

"Is that right, Sandy?" she asked. "It's been worse than that," said Sandy, lugubriously. "It's getting me down. I'm wasting away to a shadow."

"Too bad about you," she said, lightly. "You look healthy enough."

The music stopped, and Bobby and Eva came back to the table. Bobby was duly introduced to Mr. Lewis, and as they sat down Jean discovered that her conscience was trying to make itself heard again.

"There you go," said Conscience. "You're piling him on."

"I'm not," said Jean indignantly. "Can't I say anything to him?"

"You were jealous when you saw Sandy with Eva, but you weren't jealous a bit when Bobby danced with her," said Conscience.

"I won't listen to you any longer," said Jean firmly.

A ripple of laughter greeted her as she emerged from this bit of self-communion. Bobby had just told some funny incident or other that had occurred that afternoon while he tried to sell an automobile to a pompous dowager.

"She said, 'Only twenty-five hundred'—this isn't nearly enough!" he repeated.

Mr. Lewis looked at him with interest. "So you sell autos, do you?" he asked.

"Well, I try to."

"Mmm. Who you with?"

"State Auto Sales, Incorporated."

"Uh. That's Mark Hopkins's agency, isn't it?"

"Yeah."

"Who's Mark Hopkins, dear?" asked Eva.

"Oh," said her husband, "he's quite a guy. He runs this big auto agency here, and he's a sort of sport promoter on the side. I guess he's in politics some, too, isn't he?"

"I guess so," said Bobby.

Lewis stared at the drink which the waiter put in front of him, and held the glass clutched in his hand for a long time, studying it intently.

"Listen," he said to Bobby at last. "You and I might be able to do some business, one of these days."

Bobby leaned forward eagerly. "Yeah," went on Lewis. "I'm going to need a new car. Might as well let you sell it to me, I guess."

He frowned heavily.

"That'd be swell," said Bobby. Lewis continued to look at his glass.

"Trouble is," he said, "I got a little deal to put over, first."

Bobby looked at him expectantly. Eva also turned to her husband.

"Is that right, Sandy?" she asked. "It's been worse than that," said Sandy, lugubriously. "It's getting me down. I'm wasting away to a shadow."

PROPER TRAINING OF CHILD DEPENDS ON REPETITION NOT PUNISHMENT

In dealing with toilet training the mistake made by almost every mother is to imagine that when a child can "wait" for attention from the parent—when he is old enough to know what is expected and can talk—that, willfully, he will also know enough to indicate his needs when they arise.

It is probable that a child of two years could "tell his mother" if he sat all day in a corner and thought about nothing but the symptoms of his need for toilet attention. But no such child exists. The child is a busy human being. He plays at games which enlist his whole interest for the moment. He is playing with children who are fascinating companions, very often for only short periods during the day and thus to be enjoyed to the limit for that time.

MOTHERS IGNORE REASONS

He may be out of doors, bundled to the eyes and disliking the very thought of having to be brought in and unwrapped and then subjected again to the always disagreeable wrapping process.

There are innumerable perfectly legitimate reasons why the child's mind is diverted from the necessity to "tell his mother" when he wants to go to the toilet. Then, instead of recognizing these reasons, the mother considers her child's failure to tell her, as an indication of the failure of her training.

SPANKINGS WILL NOT SUCCEED

Mrs. F. J. W. writes: "Can you give me a suggestion as to how to train my two-year-old to tell me when he needs to go to the toilet? He can talk sufficiently, but he will not tell me. I have tried spanking, but to no avail."

This last may be one reason the training has failed to "take." "You only bewilder the child by spanking him for the performance of acts which you want him to continue. He does not understand often that it is his way of performing them which you dislike and probably thinks you look upon the whole toilet situation with distaste and disgust."

IT CAN BE DONE

Our leaflets, "Training for Cleanly

Habits," and "Re-training for Cleanly Habits," which you may have for a self-addressed and 3c stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper, are designed to help the mother to continue the patient repetition of the kind of toilet situation you want the child to establish.

But it may be months before the child can be given the responsibility of "telling you," though your own efforts meanwhile will keep him dry and clean, which is exactly what you are trying to accomplish.

To-morrow: "The Bright Child Is the One Who Is Curious."

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

One of the most prevalent fads today is vegetarianism. Vegetables, to be sure, have much significance in the daily diet, but don't let a vegetarian give you the idea that meat is harmful to the human body.

Discovery of the fact that liver contains an important principle which overcomes pernicious anemia, that the pancreas or sweetbread contains the substance called insulin, which is necessary for digestion of sugar, and that other glands in the human body Dr. M. Fisher also contains important principles, has made vegetarians realize how essential meat may really be in the human diet.

As a result of these discoveries, moreover, liver, which used to be just cat meat, given away by the butcher to anyone who bought a roast, now is one of the highest priced meats in the shop.

The final answer, of course, is the fact that the famous explorer Stefansson lived on an exclusive meat diet for many months and found himself at the end of this time in just as good physical condition as when he started.

Moreover, he was again examined several years later and found to be in just as good condition of health after the lapse of these years as before.

In the past it used to be argued that eating meat would be particularly harmful to the kidneys, but there is no evidence that this food, if taken in moderation, will harm the kidneys in any way.

There is also a notion that the white meat of chicken is less harmful than the red meat, yet there is really little, if any, scientific evidence to justify this belief.

The evidence that meat does not cause high blood pressure, rheumatic or kidney diseases is much better than the evidence that it is in any way related to causation of these conditions.

The doctor preaches moderation. It is just as immoderate to avoid meat as it is to overeat.

In choosing meats we must remember that Eskimos and others, who live largely on meat, eat not only the lean meat, such as steaks, roasts and chops, but also the various glandular organs and entrails which civilized men throw away.

These organs are particularly useful for their glandular extracts, the vitamins and mineral salts.

TO-DAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Frequently after wrestling I develop pimples and boils on my skin. Has wrestling anything to do with this?

A.—Wrestlers, like football players and oarsmen, suffer frequently with furuncles, or boils. It is not known definitely whether the infection is transferred from another wrestler, or whether it comes from the mats on which the wrestling takes place. Hygienic authorities recommend use of mat covers made of Canton flannel or some similar material, which can be removed, washed, and sterilized at least once each week. In addition, the mat covers and the mats may be sprayed with an antiseptic solution occasionally. Wrestlers' suits should also be washed thoroughly once each week.

Russian Poverty Ended, Says Stalin

Moscow, Dec. 4.—Joseph Stalin, speaking at a conference of harvest drivers yesterday, declared poverty among peasants had been abolished in the Soviet Union.

At the time of the Czar's 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 peasants "were in a condition of semi-starvation," he said. "All this has been ended."

"We have succeeded in eliminating poverty along with unemployment. We are now on our way to wealth."

The Soviet dictator asserted that between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000, 000 pounds of grain had been harvested in the Soviet Union this year, and appealed for an increase to 8,000,000,000.

Civil Or Canon Marriage Law

Montreal United Presbytery Discusses Mixed Marriage Issue

Canadian Press

Montreal, Dec. 4.—The civil law of Canada, Rev. D. L. Ritchie told members of Montreal presbytery of the United Church to-day, "must rule and settle all those questions" involving annulment of mixed marriages in Quebec.

The civil law, he declared, "cannot be evaded, thrust aside, made null and void, by the particular canon law of any church within our province," and a special meeting would be called shortly to consider the report of a committee named from Montreal Protestant churches to study the situation arising from disposition of certain mixed marriages, disputed before the courts on religious grounds.

The issue to be decided, he added, was whether the civil law and the King over all his subjects in the Dominion or the canon law of the Roman Catholic Church was to obtain in Canada.

ENJOYS SATIRE ON "FIRST LADY"

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt
Chuckles at Broadway
Take-off

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was still chuckling today about the "first lady" who met last night over the footlights.

She recognized many funny little things in the Washington political satire "first lady," which she saw at a Broadway theatre, but thought it was "a take-off of situations—not people."

That was her answer to friends who asked if Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Eddy Gann or any other high figures from United States capital life had been characterized in the comedy.

Theatregoers sitting near her in the fourth row whispered audible "identifications," but the real first lady said:

"I think the authors picked out amusing incidents without stressing personalities."

She raised an eyebrow in smiling recognition several times, however, at quips about the Washington scene. Former Ambassador Henry Morgenthau, who was beside her, rocked with mirth.

The line, "It's all wrong letting a woman be first lady just because her husband is President," drew a hearty laugh from the President's wife, and so did the recipe for managing a Washington reception.

"Just remember to keep people moving—that's the secret of the whole thing."

The satire is about two rival hostesses in Washington, each of whom is seeking the Presidential nomination for her husband. Diplomats to whom "three feathers are more important than they are to a fan dancer" get an incidental thrust.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any drugstore, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Finck. Pour this into a 10 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient remedy, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat, membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Finck is a compound containing Norway Pine in a concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

MUSIC PUPILS ARE PRAISED

Bishop MacDonald Congratulates St. Ann's on Fine Recital

Unstinted praise for the young performers and their teachers, the Sisters of St. Ann, was expressed by Bishop MacDonald last evening at the close of the musical programme. As the address of welcome read by Frances Cowden explained, the evening's entertainment had been prepared in honor of St. Andrew, patron saint of the cathedral, and to commemorate the arrival of Bishop MacDonald to Victoria. The instrumental and vocal numbers showed much talent in programme varied and carefully selected and the applause was spontaneous and generous throughout.

Three chorus numbers sung by the younger girls were "Campbells Are Comin'," "Blue Bells of Scotland" and "There is a Lassie in the House," and a "Border Ballad" and "The Road to the Isles" by the seniors. The resident pupils also sang delightfully "Robin Adair" (in two parts), and "Leeds Lindsay" with descent.

Vocal numbers in the Scottish group were "What Woudha Fect for Charlie," by R. and D. Pectau; "Will Ye No Come Back Again?" Elaine Basanta; "Comin' Through the Rye," Dorcas Muir; "Mary of Argyle," Marie Crossley; a dainty song and dance, "Raindrops," by Diana Edmunds.

Violin solos were played by Mariel Franklin, "Erlakay Love Lilt" and "Lenna van-Mo"; Mary Grant recited "St. Margaret of Scotland," a particularly pleasing contribution as its authorship was recognized from "Grey Days and Gold," by Sister Mary Frances, Superior of St. Ann's, Highland dancing, taught by Sister M. Luca, included a schottische by P. Hyer, F. Lazzarin, E. Schuster and S. Owen, and a highland fling by Flavia Lazzarin.

The piano solo and ensemble numbers, reflecting great credit upon the music department in charge of Sister Mary Noreen and Sister Mary Good Counsel, were gracefully contributed by Joan Danes, E. Bledenspacher, Dagmar Bendroff, Lucile Alder, June Byrom, Dorothy Anderson, Dorothy Knight, Betty Hemmingsen and Jane Holland in solo. The piano accompaniment was by Sister M. Luca, E. Schuster and S. Owen. The Schottische from "Ladies" was played at two places by Myra Batchelor and F. Lazzarin with skill and charm, and pianoforte duets were given by I. Ganner and M. Porter, F. Thomas and M. Booth.

The stage setting was artistic, making a pleasing background for the pretty-arranged groupings of singers and musicians. Among the special guests of the evening were Bishop MacDonald, attended by Rev. Father Gaudeite, Rev. Father Osborne and other members of the cathedral clergy, Brigadier-General and Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. John Hart, Alderman James Adam, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jameson, and the parents and interested friends of the students.

Gonzales Chapter—The report on the programme being arranged for the Festival of Art to be held in January by Gonzales Chapter I.O.O.F. was presented by Mrs. Curtis Sampson at the regular meeting of the chapter held yesterday, with Mrs. Walter Nichol, the regent, presiding. A donation of $20 was voted to the Christmas hamper fund and $5 each to the Solarium and the Fleming ward of the Jubilee Hospital. Mrs. Denbigh was instructed to write letters to members ill in hospital and to Mrs. F. M. MacPherson. The next Empire study meeting will be held on Wednesday, December 11, at 8:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Nichol, when Sir Charles Deime-Radcliffe will be the speaker.

Salvation Army Bazaar—The Salvation Army Home League of the Esquimalt corps will hold a sale of work on Thursday, December 5, commencing at 11 a.m. Fancy work home cooking, and novelties suitable for Christmas presents will be on sale at 1908 Esquimalt Road (next door to Fulmer's drug store). Afternoon tea will be served. Commencing at 8 o'clock a programme will be given in the Army Hall by the Home League members, assisted by the band. No admission will be charged, but refreshments will be on sale.

Girl Stowaway Finds Romance

Australian to Wed Wireless Operator of Cargo Ship in Which She Hid; Had Terrible Time in Hold

STOWAWAY GIRL'S 13,000-MILE VOYAGE

London.—Three days shut up in a rat-infested, pitch-black ship's hold, was the price Miss Edith Wilson, a young English girl, has had to pay to get back to her native land.

For fourteen years she has been living in Australia. She went there with her mother at the age of nine—but ever since she grew old enough to have opinions of her own, Miss Wilson has been longing to get back to England to see her brother and her English relations. Her father is dead.

Australia, she found, was a grand country—but she determined to visit England before she grew too old to appreciate what "coming home" meant.

So for years Miss Wilson saved—but the sum grew all too slowly. Then, impatient with waiting, she decided to be a stowaway. And thereby the tale of her three days' agony—and 13,000-mile voyage to England—begins.

ORANGES AND RATS

One dark night, she slipped aboard the Swedish windjammer C. B. Federensen, lying in Melbourne docks. With her she carried two suitcases, a fur coat, some biscuits and fourteen oranges. She crept into the ship's hold and hid among the cargo.

It was inky black down there—and after leaving Melbourne the ship ran into heavy seas. As it pitched and tossed, Miss Wilson suffered terribly. Rats running to and fro increased her sufferings. Her electric torch, her sole source of light, soon burned out and her store of food—the oranges and biscuits—was soon exhausted.

Toward the end, her sufferings from thirst grew so bad that she even chewed the orange peel again and again in the hope that it would moisten her parched mouth.

Three days out from Melbourne, Miss Wilson went up on deck and gave herself up. But the captain, a Swede, so admired her bravery that he allowed her to work her passage home to England as a stewardess instead of being under arrest.

The ship's wireless operator was also impressed—very impressed—his fellow sailors say. He gave up his cabin for her and spent hours teaching her the mysteries of wireless telegraphy, and is understood to be her fiancé.

Thus the days passed by—hard work all day in the ship's kitchen, dining saloon and in the eight passengers' cabins—and wireless lessons in the evenings.

Now all that is over. But when Miss Wilson bade farewell to the windjammer, she was seen to be holding a magnificent bouquet of roses.

The entire crew were tearing over the ship's side shouting "Good-bye, Stowaway-Girl." The wireless operator was waving good-bye vigorously—but his shipmates say it is only to be a temporary parting. Miss Wilson has found romance as well as England through her stowaway adventure.

These be very intriguing . . . with waterfalls that do move . . . and forest fires that do burn . . . and the old stone mill that doth turn . . . There be frosted glass lamps in strange oranges. She crept into the ship's hold and hid among the cargo.

It was inky black down there—and after leaving Melbourne the ship ran into heavy seas. As it pitched and tossed, Miss Wilson suffered terribly. Rats running to and fro increased her sufferings. Her electric torch, her sole source of light, soon burned out and her store of food—the oranges and biscuits—was soon exhausted.

Toward the end, her sufferings from thirst grew so bad that she even chewed the orange peel again and again in the hope that it would moisten her parched mouth.

Three days out from Melbourne, Miss Wilson went up on deck and gave herself up. But the captain, a Swede, so admired her bravery that he allowed her to work her passage home to England as a stewardess instead of being under arrest.

The ship's wireless operator was also impressed—very impressed—his fellow sailors say. He gave up his cabin for her and spent hours teaching her the mysteries of wireless telegraphy, and is understood to be her fiancé.

Thus the days passed by—hard work all day in the ship's kitchen, dining saloon and in the eight passengers' cabins—and wireless lessons in the evenings.

Now all that is over. But when Miss Wilson bade farewell to the windjammer, she was seen to be holding a magnificent bouquet of roses.

The entire crew were tearing over the ship's side shouting "Good-bye, Stowaway-Girl." The wireless operator was waving good-bye vigorously—but his shipmates say it is only to be a temporary parting. Miss Wilson has found romance as well as England through her stowaway adventure.

Turn along Yates Street and come at once to Art Minnie's Drug Store. This within this shoppe one doth find treasure trove indeed. So many gift suggestions and at such reasonable prices, forsooth. Dainty Christmas packages of good complexion soap and lavender water be only 50 cents. Fine gift box of Yardley perfume with atomizer attachment be new and dainty. Pure skin perfume . . . the finest . . . in thin glass bottles with tasselled tips be but 50 cents. This be a shoppe of good service . . . 'tis even possible to buy stamps for wrapped up parcels within.

On up Yates Street and to the opposite side where I do find Murphy Electric Shoppe. 'Tis within my mind to give fine student's lamp to Pal's growing son. Here be finest selection . . . of every sort and kind. There be desk lamps, novelty lamps . . . and great display of scenic action lamps. These be very intriguing . . . with waterfalls that do move . . . and forest fires that do burn . . . and the old stone mill that doth turn . . . There be frosted glass lamps in strange

EX-VICTORIAN DIES IN SOUTH

Mrs. Henrietta M. Meyer
Passes Away in Berkeley,
California

The many friends of Mrs. Henrietta M. Meyer will be grieved to learn of her death in Berkeley, California, on Sunday last, at the age of seventy-eight years. She leaves to mourn her passing two daughters, Mrs. Stella Gregg of San Francisco, Mrs. R. T. Power of Vancouver; one son, Captain William R. Meyer of Berkeley, and four grandchildren, Charles W. and Norman M. Gregg and William W. and Betty Meyer.

Mrs. Meyer came from a seafaring family, and by birth and association had been closely connected with the sea. Her father was the late Captain William Moore, a mariner well known in Victoria and Pacific Coast waters. Her husband, Captain William Meyer, for many years sailed the Seven Seas, finally taking up his residence in Victoria, where he became one of the best known pilots in British Columbia waters. During their earlier married life Captain Meyer took Mrs. Meyer on several voyages, when they visited ports in the Orient and Europe.

Mrs. Meyer's son, William R. Meyer, has followed in his father's and grandfather's footsteps, and is now the master of St. Mariposa of the Matson Line, a splendid ship of 28,000 tonnage sailing on regular schedule between San Francisco and Australia. Many friends in Victoria of Captain Meyer will recall the tremendous ovation he received in San Francisco several years ago, when he returned thereafter a most spectacular dash through the island dotted southern sea to effect the rescue of the passengers and crew of a vessel on the point of foundering.

Although Mrs. Meyer made her home in California for the last twenty years, she never lost her love for Victoria, and made it a practice of returning practically every summer for a visit of several months. The remains will be interred in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery with her husband and infant daughter, who died almost forty years ago.

Dance Enjoyed—Another jolly crowd attended the popular old-time dance held in Strawberry Vale hall last Friday evening. Music being supplied by Scafe's four-piece orchestra; Mr. Lidgate acting as M.C. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the committee. Tombolas were won by Mrs. Eton, Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. Champlain, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Smart, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Eton Jr., G. McGee, C. Arden and Mr. Clough. The next old-time dance will be held on Friday, December 15.

AROUND THE TOWN
With Mistress Pepys

Tuesday, December 3.

Wake this morn with strange feeling of unrest and take some minutes considering. Suddenly I do remember there but three weeks 'til Christmas and 'tis not hard to guess why I feel so—there be so many gifts yet to find.

Hurry early to town and along Douglas Street. Could not but stop to look within the windows of the Belfast Linen Shoppe. La! What values they do have and everything so fresh and new. My eye did light upon many dainty handkerchiefs, all made by hand in goodie bright colors—from 30 cents. Here be ladies' handkerchiefs, in barred and crossed design in many fine absolutely guaranteed fast colors at 25 cents each. Myself pick up several goodie trays of natural linen with bright flowers appliqued upon . . . we round ones be but 19 cents.

Turn along Yates Street and come at once to Art Minnie's Drug Store. This within this shoppe one doth find treasure trove indeed. So many gift suggestions and at such reasonable prices, forsooth. Dainty Christmas packages of good complexion soap and lavender water be only 50 cents. Fine gift box of Yardley perfume with atomizer attachment be new and dainty. Pure skin perfume . . . the finest . . . in thin glass bottles with tasselled tips be but 50 cents. This be a shoppe of good service . . . 'tis even possible to buy stamps for wrapped up parcels within.

On up Yates Street and to the opposite side where I do find Murphy Electric Shoppe. 'Tis within my mind to give fine student's lamp to Pal's growing son. Here be finest selection . . . of every sort and kind. There be desk lamps, novelty lamps . . . and great display of scenic action lamps. These be very intriguing . . . with waterfalls that do move . . . and forest fires that do burn . . . and the old stone mill that doth turn . . . There be frosted glass lamps in strange modernistic designs . . . others round and smooth with dainty figurines a'dancing beside. And all be priced so moderately . . . 'tis a pleasure to buy within this fine shoppe.

On down Yates Street to the Needle Craft Shoppe. This be such dainty place . . . yet, there be much of color, too . . . 'tis true Christmas shoppes, me-thinks. Finde wonderful display of cushions . . . the kind that do look so perfect and yet be so comfortable to feel. Taffeta and satins be materials much used in divers shapes and designs. There be round puffs in black and gold; square-ended ones of softest green and touches of gold. Again there be gold triangles with green bias here and there. And all be stitched and banded in the newest trimmings. Chooses several with thought of perhaps having one within my own room.

In haste pass on to Government Street and within Diggon's, where I do find much hustle and bustle. There be those who do leave overseas mailing until the last minute . . . myself be culprit, too. These do shop now. Finde goodie books be appreciated wherever they do go and pick up several; more for friends far away. "Europa"—Robert Briffault, be mighty tome. 'Tis interesting reading . . . and very new. "Storm Sign"—Joseph Lincoln, be part and parcel of this great continent. "Life With Father"—Clarence Day. This book do tickle many a funny bone. "Reindeer Trek" by Allen Roy Evans, be saga of that great achievement but recently accomplished. For new and modern books Diggon's be goodie place to go.

Now do spend a reckless half hour. 'Tis within the Belmont Building and 'tis a'gazing at fine display of perfect flower vases. All colors there be here . . . and all shapes . . . wide flat vases with frog attached, and the stately tall ones. There be exquisite "Amber Cloud" chins . . . 'tis fine amber veined with milky creams and browns. There be tortoise . . . shell green . . . and deepest blues. Fascinating with bowls, too, did intrigue me. These be shaped much as old witch crystals were, wherein one did always see some fortune. Now they be made into flower bowls . . . and still there be something eerie within these clear crystal depths. Finde exquisite bud vases in perfect colors for but 35 cents each. Then again there be perfect piece of "Amber Cloud" for $4.50.

Returning do pause at the Posh Shoppe, Port Street. Mistress Whyte be arranging for the holly shipments to far places. 'Tis best to order now—it be not wise to leave it 'til later. FINE berries holly from Vancouver Island doth always please those who live where it be scarce. 'Tis thoughtful gift, and withal so Christmas-like with its deep green leaves and fine red berries. This season doth seem as 'though there be an over abundance of bright berries . . . they be clustered thick. 'Tis possible to get good box of holly, all wrapped securely and labeled in fine clear writing for as little as 50 cents.

But next door have luck in finding a shoppe that be overflowing with fine gift ideas. 'Tis F. S. Martin's, at 621 Port Street. Mister Martin hath happy faculty of picking up odd bits of china and such like . . . bits that be not found in any other place within the city. Straightway finde this indeed be true . . . for see something that I do never chance upon before. 'Tis called "Peach Fuzz." Flower bowls these be . . . of fine glazed china within . . . and upon the outside a surface that do feel much like the skin of a peach. These be of green, rose and carmine red . . . and at prices very reasonable. 'Tis so very different! Finde also a table of strange frosted glass that do look much like frozen lace. These pieces be in apple green, rose pink and white. Mister Martin have many other bits to make the gift seeker happy. With sudden thought of eating within my mind do on to English Bakery at 726 Port Street. Think it wise to order new the fine rich Christmas cakes they do ever make here. Finde this season English Bakery do make a little different offer. If one doth wish goodie dark fruit cake with almond paste or icing, 'tis priced at 50 cents a pound. With tasteful almond paste and fine white icing and Christmas decoration 'twould be 60 cents a pound. These Christmas Cakes do weigh from one pound without paste or icing . . . and from one and one-half pounds so decorated, English Bakery fruit cake be dark and full of fruit.

Have a few minutes left and step within Wilfrid Gibson's Studio. Here within this fine place doth make their likenesses and Mister Gibson doth strive to please them all. His great offer doth bring them—one picture he will finish—or two—perhaps more, as one doth wish or can pay for. With the perfect lighting system but just installed within the studio . . . that do soften hard lines and wrinkles within the countenance and yet doth hold a perfection of likeness never seen before . . . doth make Gibson's studio very popular. Then, too, there be the new mounts . . . that doth have a natural tone finish . . . or perhaps soft silver tone.

Home tired and well content. This night be spent once more in arranging my Christmas gifts. After struggling long minutes with fleshie paper, cellophane and ribbon do turn to writing in this, my diary. It doth soothe my spirits and I do smile again. And so—to bed.

This Shows WHY You Get Such Fast Relief from "ASPIRIN"

WHY "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST

Drop an "Aspirin" Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom of the glass it has started to disintegrate. What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Quick Relief for Headaches, Neuritis, Rheumatic Pains

The old adage says, "what you see you believe." So the nurse, pictured above, shows you two actual photographs to prove the quick action of "ASPIRIN."

Look at them, and you will see one reason why Scientists rate "ASPIRIN" among the fastest agents, now known or ever known, for the relief of headaches, neuritis, neuralgia and rheumatic pains. You'll see that an "Aspirin" tablet, dropped into a glass of water, starts to disintegrate, or dissolve, before it hits the bottom of the glass. Hence, it is ready to go to work almost instantly you take one. For what happens in that glass happens in your stomach when you take an "ASPIRIN" tablet. Relief comes in a few minutes.

Countless thousands know that about "ASPIRIN." Know by experience that it brings the quick relief you want when in distress. Keep this in mind the next time your work or play is handicapped by a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain. Learn for yourself how fast you can get relief.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Celona Sentence

Starts From Nov. 4

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—An eleven-year sentence which Joe Celona must serve at the penitentiary on conviction of procuring, living in part on the earnings of prostitution and of keeping a bawdy house, runs from November 4, Acting Chief Justice Archer Martin directed yesterday.

The ruling prohibits Celona from including in the sentence the eight months he has been held in the Okalla jail pending the outcome of his trials and appeals. The Court of Appeal reduced the original sentence from twenty-one to eleven years.

Margate, Eng., Dec. 4.—Dr. Hermann Görtz, a German arrested under the Official Secrets Act, pleaded innocence in police court yesterday and was committed for trial in the January term of the Old Bailey court.

Görtz was named in a charge of "conspiring to commit offences against the Official Secrets Act" with a woman identified by the prosecution as Marianne Emig, as well as a complaint he made sketches of the Oanston Royal Air Force station.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

GRAND CANYON OF THE COLORADO

Roms and coins ago, sea upon sea inundated what is now America. As the seas receded, rivers were formed, one of the mightiest being the Colorado, that winds its route southward into the Gulf of California.

For millions of years this river cut deeply into the layers of salt that the seas had spread over the land and that had formed into rock. Then came a mighty upheaval that raised the Colorado plateau region thousands of feet above sea level, and the Colorado began cutting a new channel to the sea.

Slowly and steadily it carved out of the rock the picturesque and awe-inspiring cliffs that now form the Grand Canyon. In Arizona. This wonder of America appears on the 2-cent value of the National Parks series, issued in 1934. It shows the Deva, Brahma and Zoroaster "temples," and Bright Angel Canyon. Ninety million of these stamps were printed.

DIESEL LECTURE GIVEN AT SIDNEY

Sidney, Dec. 4.—The last of this year's University Extension lectures was given on Saturday night in Wesley Hall by Prof. De Witt M. Taylor. Mr. Taylor's topic was the Diesel engine, with illustrations. He explained the various types of construction and carburetion, and said this type of engine was suitable for large trucks and marine work, but not for the average automobile.

The next lecture will be on January 14, with Prof. H. F. Angus on "Proposals for Improvement on Capitalist Lines through Monetary Reform and Reconstruction."

The Sidney young people enjoyed a movie and lantern lecture given by Claude L. Harrison Monday evening. Mr. Harrison showed slides taken on his recent trip to the Rockies, the movie being "Paradise Valley." Slides of Sooke taken by the new colorized film were also shown.

Basil Hartley of Lumbie, B.C., has been visiting his parents, Capt. and Mrs. Hartley, Deep Cove.

TRIBUTE PAID TO C. H. DICKIE

Duncan, Dec. 4.—Presentation of a testimonial to C. H. Dickie, former federal member for Nanaimo, was made in the Queen Margaret's school assembly hall Saturday, November 30. Rev. Arthur Buehler, who acted as chairman, stated that the idea of the testimonial arose out of an earnest desire on the part of Mr. Dickie's personal friends, to give expression to their affection for him and his wife, and also to show appreciation of his long public service. Mr. Dickie was member for the Cowichan-Newcastle district for five years in the provincial legislature, and for ten years represented the Nanaimo riding at Ottawa.

The testimonial, in the form of a cheque for nearly $600, was presented by the chairman. He also presented Mrs. Dickie with a framed picture of Cowichan River.

Mr. Dickie expressed thanks on behalf of his wife and himself. He said he was not yet beaten in the battle of life, but would go on "playing the game" to the best of his ability.

England Blanks Germany In International Football Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THERE ARE misgivings at Ibrox Park. The star-studded Glasgow Rangers machine that has stood head and shoulders above all other teams in Scottish football for some years shows signs of fading. The long grind is at the stage when the famous light blues would, in recent years, have begun to look back at the other teams in the first division. Now they are faced with the proposition of overtaking a youthful and powerful eleven—Aberdeen and Celtic—both of whom already have taken the cupholder's measure in league warfare.

Gunning for its fourth consecutive league championship, the club made little change in its personnel, but injuries have played their part in the decline that has taken place in the last couple of months. Players, whose names are known throughout the soccer world, have been inactivated, and undoubtedly this has had something to do with the Rangers' change of fortune.

On the other hand, some of the directors' experiments have been notably successful. The conversion of a centre-forward, found many "doubting Thomases," but the youngster, in his first game in this position, rammed home two goals. The injury of that master strategist, R. McPhail, for a time caused considerable concern. On his return to the field, however, he showed he had lost none of his former dexterity.

Celtic completed many off-season deals and presented a revamped eleven. The change was noticeable from the outset and the Celts seem set for another banner year. Aberdeen made a few changes and supporters are waiting for the real test of their favorites when they tangle with Celtic December 21. This encounter may be the turning point in the drive for honors.

Rangers officially opened the season at home against Arbroath, and soundly trounced the newly-promoted team 4 to 0. About the third week of the campaign a dark cloud appeared when Ayr United, the butt of many reverses, held the cupholders to a 2 to 2 draw. In the meantime, Celtic and Aberdeen, playing inspired football, were serious threats. The three teams raced for a spell with little to choose between them, and then Rangers and Celtic met for the Glasgow Cup. Rangers won 2 to 1 and supporters began to talk of a fourth successive championship.

The Ibrox Park players continued to show their heels to opponents until they were held to another draw by the down-trodden Hibernians. This was followed by a 2 to 1 defeat by their old rivals, the Celts. Aberdeen eventually clashed with the champions and showed marked superiority to win 1 to 0—the first time Rangers were held scoreless this year. A glance at the records show the Rangers have held the title twenty-one times and were joint holders once with Celtic. They have held the Scottish Cup nine times and for the last two years won both league and cup honors.

The average bowling alley boy lifts the astounding weight of twenty-six tons in two hours of setting up the maples in a match between two five-man teams, a statistician figures. The boy makes eleven setups, which means that he lifts a total of 385 pounds of pins in one game. Then he lifts the sixteen-pound ball an average of eighteen times a game, making a total of 288 pounds. Figuring 100 pounds for dead wood a game, and his own weight averaging 150 pounds, he must lift on to a platform every time a ball comes down the alley, you have a total of 3,473 pounds a game. Multiply by fifteen, the number of games a five-man team rolls in a match, and you reach the total of 52,095 pounds, or more than twenty-six tons.

Camsell Stars In Fine Victory With Two Goals

Shares Scoring Honors With Bastin in 3 to 0 Win at White Hart Lane

Large Crowd On Best Behavior

London, Dec. 4.—England defeated Germany 3 to 0 before 60,000 cheering spectators at White Hart Lane to-day in the first international soccer match between the two countries on English soil since 1901. The score at half-time was 1 to 0. Police authorities and English Football Association officials had taken every precaution to prevent demonstrations, but the great crowd, which included a large number from Germany, was on its best behavior and there were no untoward incidents.

The game itself was hard fought with the Germans particularly strong in defence, and it was not until the closing minutes that the visitors' back division crumbled allowing England to score two goals in rapid succession. Otto Ohlson, Sweden, regressed and at the close the opposing teams shook hands.

G. Camsell, Middlesbrough's crack centre-forward, scored a goal in each half, the third going to the credit of C. S. Bastin, Arsenal winger. Lehner, German inside forward, netted in the second half, but he was offside and the goal was ruled out.

Good humor prevailed during the proceedings preliminary to the start of the game. A few Nazi flags were waved and the large German following, which included nearly 100 sports writers, sang lustily when the band played a Nazi song. When it was concluded the crowd, bare-headed, clapped and cheered the Germans.

The teams stood at the salute as the German and British national anthems were played. British and German flags were broken up by a strong defence. The Nazi team made a spirited rush to the other end, but failed to score. The home halves crowded the opposing forwards, giving them little opportunity to break away. On the other hand the Nazi backs tackled in great style.

The English players were not to be denied and two minutes from the interval Camsell bested Jacob with a fast shot.

SECOND HALF

Germany attacked strongly after England had made two abortive raids and Lehner netted from an offside position to the accompaniment of cheers from the Nazi supporters. Matthews, substituted for Birrell of Middlesbrough at the last moment, was the opposing defence.

The German defence finally gave way and Camsell headed through England's second goal. Bastin rifled in a third, a few minutes later.

The teams: England—Higgs, Birmingham; Male, Haggood, Arsenal; Crayston, Sunderland; Camsell, Middlesbrough; Westwood, Bolton Wanderers; Bastin, Arsenal.

Germany—Jacob; Haringer; Meuzenberg; James, Goldrunner, Gramlich; Lehner, Szepan, Hohmann, Raselsberg, Path.

Norfolk Girls Win Hockey

The Norfolk House girls' hockey eleven defeated the Victoria High School 5 to 0 in an exhibition game on the High School grounds yesterday afternoon.

The Norfolk House had the game their own way and showed much skill in passing, while the High team showed much need of practice. S. Collier-Wright led the scoring by netting two goals.

CANADA WINS THIRD "TEST"

Dominion's Hockey Players Turn Back England 9 to 3; Players Injured

London, Dec. 4.—Canada won the third "test" hockey match of the five-game series with England yesterday evening at Richmond, 9 to 3. The team representing the Dominion has made a clean sweep of the series so far, winning both previous games 5 to 4.

Davey scored for England in the opening and Chappel made it 2 to 0 three minutes later. But tallies by Walton and Haggarty equalized the count at the end of the first period. Davey again put England ahead in the second, but counters by Beaton and Walton left it 4 to 3 for Canada as the last period began. Injuries cost England the services of Davey and Pyrie, and Canada swept to easy victory thereafter. Nicholson, Haggarty, Roff, Albert Lemay and Beaton each contributed to the five-goal third session spurge before the final bell.

TORCHY PEDEN DISPLAYS GREAT INTEREST IN NICE BLONDE DURING OFF HOURS

Victoria's Famous Bike Rider Has Pretty Supporter at Current New York Six-day Grind; Torchry and Norman Hill Riding in Fifth Place, Two Laps Behind Leaders; Still Tops in Points

By ANDY CLARKE New York, Dec. 4.—It is during the chilly hours before dawn that the six-day bike rider really takes his back half down.

Trick and fancy riding, eating, courtship and the fine art of conversation are carried on by this hardy crew as the patrons slowly desert the long, sloping tiers of Madison Square Garden just before the sun comes up. On a twenty-four-hour-a-day job a rider has to get in his recreation while he's on his wheel. There's too much sleeping to be done when he is off.

The early morning stagger finds the boys donning long cotton stockings and sweaters and jamming cap wait for later in the day, when the galleries are better populated.

Big Torchy Peden, a winner of twenty-six grinds, shows considerable interest in a girl with blond, shimmering hair who hands him messages and nibbles from the rail as he slowly rides by. During his relief the big Canadian meets her on the far side of the track and makes her laugh heartily about something or another. Torchry won't be able to take her to dinner until late Saturday night, at the soonest, and he'll probably be pretty tired by then.

EATS ON WHEELS Cotton-haired Jimmy Walthour, who does everything but knit while moving around, sits straight up on his bike, driving with one slipped foot, steering with the other that is hooked on the handle bar, and eats a chicken leg. He probably would play

LONDON TECS TAKE HOCKEY

Score 2 to 0 Win Over Buffalo; Cleveland and Rochester Winners

Windsor, Dec. 4.—Frank Nighor was convinced to-day the same line that was following Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League was close on the trail of his Buffalo Bisons in the International League chase.

The harassed coach saw his pets shut out by the Tecumsehs 2 to 0 at London yesterday evening, while they struggled on with only two defencesmen and his starry centre, Les Cunningham, watched from the sidelines under advice of physicians. He is faced with an appendix operation.

Joe Starke was the hero of the Pittsburgh Shamrocks in their unsuccessful home-town stand against the Cleveland Falcons. After turning away forty-nine spots, one of Vic Ripley's fast ones got by him to give the visitors a 1 to 0 triumph.

"SLIM" BELCHER IN CIGAR STORE

Claude "Slim" Belcher, a star of many of Victoria's baseball teams and a good local amateur hockey performer in the years when the city boasted a rink, has gone into business for himself in the cigar store at 709 Yates Street.

Slim, one of the more popular members of the city police until his recent resignation from that force, has a large circle of friends who will wish him every success in his new venture.

CLINT SMITH IS IN FRONT

Leads Scorers in Northwest Hockey League With Eleven Points

Calgary, Dec. 4.—Dominance of Portland and Vancouver was reflected in statistics of the Northwest Hockey League yesterday. As far as the league lead has been concerned it has been a battle between the two since the opening of the season. Higher scoring by Vancouver forwards gave them the top five places in the individual standings with another player tied for sixth.

Clint Smith, Vancouver centre who has topped the scorers in two of the last three years, leads Guy Patrick's first string firing line with one goal, ten assists, for eleven points. His wings, Bryan Hextall and Charlie O'Neill, looked after the scoring, Hextall notching eight goals and O'Neill seven.

The only players within hailing distance of the Lion sharpshooters are Tony Savage, the defenceman who turned forward for Calgary Tigers and played home when the team went to the coast, Dutch Gainer, Calgary centre, Ralph Blyth, Portland, and Bill Carse and Louis Holmes, Edmonton, each has six points.

Cam Proudlock, Seattle, leads the penalty parade with twenty-seven minutes. Gordon McParlane, lanky Calgary defenceman, has twenty-six.

Chicago Black Hawks Shatter Jinx To Defeat Boston Bruins

Finally Win On Foreign Ice By Two Goal Margin

Paul Thompson and Doc Romnes Are Scoring Heroes in 3 to 1 Victory

MAROONS TURN BACK CANADIENS

At this point of the National Hockey League proceedings, Chicago Black Hawks have compiled the best record of any team and the Canadian section, without a hopeless tailender any more, has held its own with the American section. The Canadian section seems to be as well-balanced as the other today.

The appling Hawks broke an away-from-home jinx yesterday evening in Boston, trouncing the burly but ineffective Bruins, 3 to 1, before a crowd of 12,000. At Montreal, Maroons squared matters with Canadiens by coming from behind to conquer the Frenchmen 2 to 1 in a thrilling battle. It was Chicago's first victory of the season in four starts away from home. The win built Chicago's point-total to thirteen in nine games, two more than Toronto Maple Leafs have compiled in the same number of starts to head the Canadian section.

COME FROM BEHIND

The Hawks rushed from behind after spotting Boston a goal in the first period, and made no mistakes in cutting down the once impregnable Bruin defence of Eddie Shore and Babe Siebert.

A year ago the Bruins were almost unbeatable when Tiny Thompson, Shore and Siebert went to work protecting a one-goal lead. When Charlie Sands potted a shot yesterday evening on Max Kaminsky's pass at the 3:40 mark, the Boston faithful sat back to see what the Hawks would do about that. They did not have long to wait. In twenty seconds Paul Thompson raced in on brother Tiny and gave Doc Romnes a scoring pass. The same pair came back in the second period and again Romnes sank a pass from Thompson, the league's leading point-maker. Then the crowd leaned forward to see what the Bruins would do when faced with a 2 to 1 defeat.

Bruins did not do anything, but Hawks added a goal before the second period closed when Gus March got in a pass from Howie Morenz.

Beaten in their first duel of the season against Canadians, Tommy Gorman's Maroons fought an uphill battle to win yesterday evening. Bally Northcott and the elusive, sniping Earl Robinson, scored three-period goals that gave the redmen a brilliant win, their fifth in seven starts.

Leroy Goldsworthy scored for Canadiens in the first period, and Lionel Conacher tied it up in the second stanza.

Early in the third period Paul Haynes put Canadiens ahead again to set the stage for a great finish by the Stanley Cup champions. Galfant Little Wilf Cude could not hold off the redmen.

UZZUDUN IS NOT WORRIED

Veteran Spaniard Quite Confident Joe Louis Cannot Knock Him Out

Orangeburg, N.Y., Dec. 4.—Paulino Uzzudun says if Joe Louis hurts him in their bout in Madison Square Garden December 13 he will go into his shell, cover every vulnerable part and, no matter how ferocious the negro's attack may be, go the required fifteen rounds.

"If," he grunts, "if he hurts me, He must do that first. Otherwise I will hurt him. You watch."

The thirty-six-year-old Basque does not believe the man lives who can floor him, much less knock him out. He points with pardonable pride to the list of those who have tried and failed—Max Schmeling, Primo Carners, Max Baer, Johnny Riske, Mickey Walker, Ernie Schaaf, King Levinaky et al. And then he bows his head and lets a quartette of sparring partners wallop him.

Singing Wood Finds It Is True

Singing Wood discovers that there really is gold in California as Tala Nirell, Viennese film actress, ticks a golden horseshoe on the four-year-old's stall to bring Mrs. John Hay Whitney's star good luck during the season opening at Santa Anita on Christmas Day. Singing Wood, one of the turf's more important money winners, is a candidate for the $112,500 Santa Anita Handicap of February 23.

Perpich Carries Winniepegs' Hopes

Western Grid Champions Counting on Former Minnesota Star to Get Away Valuable Points in Canadian Final Against Hamilton Saturday; Bob Fritz Injured

By ELMAR DULMAGE

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Joe Perpich, a rangy young fellow from Minnesota who played his American football in the semi-obscurity of the St. Cloud Teachers' College team, will stand out there on the old H.A.A.A. grounds at Hamilton Saturday with a great part of western Canada's gridiron aspirations riding on every ball he kicks.

An outside wing and apparently a capable one, Perpich will be forgiven for any and all tactics he misses, just so long as he gets plenty of snap on his punts. Winnipeg's prairie clingers for the Canadian football title have reached the point where they must finally face eastern kicking, and they must look to Joe.

Huck Welch and Frank Turville, top-ranking punters, will be in the Tiger backfield to subdue one more western threat by the serial method that has been successful before. Some good prairie teams have come this way, only to have Welch and Turville boot the Grey Cup out of their hands.

MYSTERY MAN

This time Perpich falls heir to the post opposite the east's sixty-yard driver. Winnipeg has shielded his ability since going to Detroit for a final brushing up. They have not said whether he kicks them thirty-five or fifty-five yards. Against Assumption College Monday, they did not let him punt.

So Joe will be the mystery man of Saturday's east-west duel when the formidable Manitobans, unbeaten and untied this season, gather themselves to hurl a western charge that never before has been successful in titular combat.

Winnipeg have not needed Perpich to do anything extraordinary in the air this season, bowling over the opposition with a ground attack and a together may be successful against "Tigers." Winnipeg expect to gain from scrimmage against the eastern champions, they believe they can hold Hamilton in check and they hope Perpich will do the rest.

They don't think the east has a better ball-carrier than Fritz Hanson, former North Dakota state all-American flash. On a dry field, the westerners believe, the wiry little Hanson will shake himself loose once or twice. And they say when Hanson shakes himself loose, you just walk in front of the goal posts to get ready for the place-kick after touchdown.

Hanson is the safety man. Russ Rehbohl, Coach Bob Fritz, Dynamite Tiger, Hanson and Greg Kabat are a hard-biting connection of running backs they can gallop the ends, all-

Referees Hold Annual Meeting

Annual meeting and interpretation examinations of the Vancouver Island Approved Basketball Referees Association will be held at Nanaimo on Sunday, according to an announcement made to-day by President Gordon Woodridge. The meeting will start at 1 o'clock and will be attended by the provincial interpreters from Vancouver. Several Victoria referees will attend. Further information can be obtained by telephoning Woodridge at G-1736.

though Rehbohl is rated the best all-around footballer in the west. All Winnipeg's ball-carrying will be done by the backfield. Rehbohl, Kabat and Fritz will do the forward passing.

Detroit, Dec. 4.—An X-ray will be taken to-day of Bob Fritz's right wrist. The twenty-six-year-old playing-coach and quarterback of the Winnipeg football club suffered a fracture in the exhibition game with Assumption College at Windsor Monday.

Fritz, it was disclosed to-day, woke up yesterday morning with his wrist swollen well above its normal size. For a time it was believed the member was only sprained, but when a series of treatments failed to lessen the swelling it was decided to have an X-ray.

The youthful coach of the western grid champions was unable to take part in yesterday's workout, but it is hoped to have him ready for the Dominion final with Hamilton Tigers Saturday.

BIG SEVEN OF MAJOR HOCKEY

Chicago's dynamite line of Thompson-Romnes-McFadyen, which has been saying it with goals this season, is offering a torrid challenge to Toronto's ace snipers in the National Hockey League big seven assists race.

Thompson, with two assists in yesterday evening's 3 to 1 triumph for the Hawks over Boston, regained leadership with a single point margin over Toronto's Charlie Conacher.

Standings follow: G. A. Pts.
Thompson, Chicago ..... 6 6 12
C. Conacher, Toronto ..... 6 5 11
Romnes, Chicago ..... 4 8 10
H. Jackson, Toronto ..... 5 4 9
McFadyen, Chicago ..... 2 7 9
Metz, Toronto ..... 8 0 8

Thoma, Toronto; Northcott, Montreal, and Haynes, Canadiens, tied for seventh place with seven points each.

New York, Dec. 4.—Babe Riske, world middleweight boxing champion, and Jack McAvoy, the British titleholder at the same weight, yesterday were matched by Madison Square Garden for a ten-round non-title fight in the Garden on December 30.

MONTREAL TO SEE McAVOY

Seek Frank Battaglia for Bout With British Champion Next Month

New York, Dec. 4.—Jack McAvoy, wearer of the middleweight and light-heavyweight crowns of the British Empire, will appear in Montreal the third week of next January, promoter Armand Vincent announced here recently.

The French Canadian promoter said he was trying to land Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg holder of the Canadian middleweight title, as a foe for "Jarring Jack," who upset Al McCoy in ten rounds here Friday, and the fight experts along with him.

Vincent also announced Sixto Escobar, the Puerto Rican flash recognized in New York as world bantam champion after bowling over Lou Salica, would defend his claim to the title in Montreal early in February.

Prospective opponents for the dark-skinned little Escobar were named as Panama Al Brown and Johnny King, British Empire ruler of the class.

"Battaglia is fighting Riske in an over-weight match December 9, in Philadelphia, and if he wins we may be in position to demand a title match, so I'm not making any other arrangements until after that fight," said Vincent in commenting on proposals to match Battaglia and Jack McAvoy, British fighter.

Clonmel, Irish Free State, has banned all bread not baked there.

To-morrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock, thirty candidates will turn out to go through their paces under the eyes of the selection committee members who will pick the rival squads for Saturday's charity trial game at Macdonald Park. The workout to-morrow will be held under floodlights on that pitch.

According to word to-day, Ernie Butterworth, coach of several successful local all-star squads, may be available to drill the teams in plays via the chalk-talk route, but will not be able to attend night practices.

However, the selection committee is considering enlarging its membership to include one or two others who will be able to assist materially in bringing the boys up to scratch in the workout. Who will lead the team in the capacity of field general will not be announced for some time.

The winners, by dint of good passing and accurate shooting, secured an early lead which they never relinquished. The high scorers for the evening were J. Travis and G. Harknett, with fourteen and eighteen points, respectively, for the Centennials. Bladen scored ten points for the losers.

"Chuck" Sharpe refereed.

BREAD PRICES ARE BOOSTED

Higher Cost of Commodities Sends Price Up Half a Cent a Loaf

An increase in the price of commodities was responsible for half a cent increase in the price of a loaf of bread, it was announced this morning by J. R. Small, secretary of the Master Bakers' Association.

Mr. Small stated the increase was not because stores in some cases had been selling bread at cost price and had decided to change that practice. The increase in the cost of commodities had made the increase in price necessary, he stated.

SCHOOL BALANCE WILL BE SLIGHT

Victoria's school board may end the year with a surplus ranging from $250 to $500, depending on the weather, W. F. C. Pope, secretary, stated to-day in reply to questions concerning the report the board would finish the year with a favorable balance.

It is largely dependent on the amount of fuel required by the schools before the Christmas holidays, Mr. Pope stated.

Last month Trustee T. B. Monk, chairman of the finance committee, had stated the board had pretty well spent its appropriations for 1935.

Advance Reports On Movie Encouraging

Second Picture Will Be Made Here By Central Films; Columbia to Release "Stop, Look and Love" Over Main United States Circuit

Satisfaction with the work done in Victoria in the production of "Stop, Look and Love," by Central Films Limited, is expected in reports received by the company from Columbia Pictures Incorporated, for whom the movie is being made to comply with the British quota laws.

Production of a second picture by Central Films, also for Columbia, will begin next week, according to Kenneth J. Bishop, producer. The company is now in the last stages of the filming of "Stop, Look and Love," starring David Manners and Maxine Doyle, and it is expected that the final scenes will be taken to-morrow.

The film is stated in advance reports, to be definitely in the top class. Columbia is so satisfied with the quality of the production that it plans to release it over its main United States circuit before sending it to England, for which it was originally intended.

Nick Grinde, director of the film, said this morning that he found it hard to believe the film could be so good, in view of the many setbacks experienced in Victoria, and of the exceptionally high percentage of amateur talent, but that Columbia was a hard-boiled company not likely to go in for exaggeration in its advance reports.

Mr. Grinde will remain in Victoria to direct the new production, whose title is "The Tugboat Princess." The story is by Robert Watson, a Canadian author, working in collaboration with Norman Reilly Raine of "Tugboat Annie" fame.

STAR NOT SELECTED

As far as could be learned this morning the leading player for the new production has not yet been selected. The script calls for an elderly man. Rumors current in Victoria that either Guy Standing or C. Aubrey Smith are being considered, receive no confirmation. Mr. Grinde stated this morning that he personally had not heard either of these actors mentioned for the part, and that they were not exactly the type required, both being too gentlemanly for the character to be portrayed.

The Crystal Garden pool has been the main scene of the company's activities during the last few days. A replica of a liner's swimming tank has been erected there. Last night the party was on location at Langford, taking railway shots on the E. and N. line. Under the glare of powerful lights, Maxine Doyle and David Manners jumped handcuffed from a train.

LEAVING TO-MORROW

Mr. Manners plans to leave Victoria to-morrow for his ranch near Hollywood, and to take a long rest from movie work. His ambition is to leave the screen altogether, and to devote himself to his main interest, which is writing. He is considering a newspaper job for a while, for the training which it would offer him.

He said this morning that his visit to Victoria, despite the setbacks which the production has suffered through the weather and bad breaks of luck, had been worth while. Working under the circumstances found at the Willows and around the city had been a new sort of training. He referred to the excellent spirit of friendship between all the members of the company.

UPHOLD TAXI BY-LAW TEST

Partial Victory For Defence Follows Arguments Over Rate-setting Regulation

Robert D. Harvey, counsel for William Ferriaday in the test case on the city taxi-by-law registered a partial victory in the City Police Court this morning when the magistrate gave judgment in his favor on one case and convicted on a second in which the circumstances were different.

The result of the decision was the granting of permission to firms outside the city boundaries to operate their machines within the city at less than minimum rates, providing the vehicles are hired outside the city boundaries.

The $5 fine in the second case was paid under protest by Mr. Harvey who intended an appeal might be taken. His suggestion was taken up by the court, the magistrate adding it might be as well to take the matter to a higher court for decision.

The test involves cases against William Ferriaday and his son Brock of Oak Bay, charged under undercharging patrons employed by other taxi firms to take the rides and see if the by-law was being evaded.

CIRCUMSTANCES DIFFERED

In the case against the father the car was hired in Oak Bay and driven into the city, while in the son's case it was hired in the city, driven through Oak Bay and back to the city. Arguments by C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, and Mr. Harvey were heard earlier in the case and this morning the court heard H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, give his interpretation of the civic legislation.

Mr. Pringle's introduction into the case was opposed by Mr. Harvey who contended it had already been closed with arguments from Mr. Harrison and himself.

Mr. Pringle's contentions were that when a taxi from Oak Bay crossed the Victoria boundary it came within the by-law applied in the city, while any car hired in the city must charge the minimum rate while driving within the city boundaries.

The power of the city of Victoria to legislate for vehicle rates was contained in a special clause of the city's act.

The court asked how the legislation would apply if a car was hired in Courtenay and traveled to Oak Bay through several municipalities who possessed these special powers.

Mr. Pringle's opinion was that the driver would be required to charge the minimum provided in each of the municipalities he passed through for the length of the trip through each of the municipalities.

BY-LAW UNREASONABLE

Mr. Harvey contended this was ridiculous. The statute under which the city was given these powers limited them to the city boundary. The cars in question were licensed in Oak Bay and had a right to take passengers anywhere, he said. No by-law was upheld if it was unreasonable and if Mr. Pringle's argument was upheld then Mr. Harvey submitted the by-law was unreasonable. In Ontario, where similar powers were given, it was stipulated that cars hired in the city must charge minimum rates within the city and three miles beyond the city boundaries, he said. Thus, if the statute had intended to give the city this right it would have been so stipulated, he argued.

As an instance he cited the case of the Oak Bay bus line, which had a franchise in Oak Bay and could not pick up passengers within the city when inbound, while it could not drop them in the city when outbound.

The court held in the case of William Ferriaday the car had been hired in Oak Bay and thus the contract was completed within the confines of the municipality.

In the Brock Ferriaday case, however, it was different since the car was actually hired in the city after a telephone conversation to the Oak Bay telephone.

Nominations In To-morrow

Civic Candidates For December 12 Must File By 2 o'clock

G. B. Crump, who yesterday took out mayoralty nomination papers at the City Hall, was undecided late to-day on what course he would pursue regarding the civic elections. His indecision gave rise to some speculation over a contest for mayoralty.

No other candidate has come forward to date to contest the seat of Mayor Leeming, who is seeking re-election, and nominations for all posts to be filled by the electors on December 12, must be filed with Frank M. Hunter, returning officer, by 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

In the council and school board divisions, however, lively contests were assured with eight and possibly nine aspirants going in quest of five aldermanic seats and seven seeking four vacancies on the school board.

The five aldermen whose terms expire at the end of this year, will seek re-election. They are Aldermen T. W. C. Hawkins, R. A. C. Dewar, Alec Peden, F. R. Brown and John A. Worthington.

Contesting the seats will be Ed. Williams, Alice McGregor, Frank LeRoy, Stanley Ockell and possibly W. H. Sargent, who took out papers some time ago, but who has not yet made an announcement.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

Kenneth Ferguson and Charles Bishop are the only two school trustees of four whose terms end this year who will seek return.

Trustees T. B. Monk and W. T. Strath have definitely decided to withdraw from the lists.

Two former trustees, Walter Stansfeld and Arthur C. Pike, will be among the field of seven in quest of the posts.

AUTO CRASH BRINGS FINE

Thomas E. M. Brand Has Driver's License Canceled After Accident

Thomas E. M. Brand was fined $30 and the court recommended cancellation of his driver's license when he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of driving to the common danger. The charge was the result of an accident at the corner of Hillside Avenue and Quadra Street, shortly after midnight, last Saturday.

Police stated the accused had failed to stop at the stop sign while driving east on Hillside Avenue, and had struck a car driven south on Quadra Street by M. J. Crump. The Crump car was knocked seventy-six feet after the impact.

P. J. Sifnot, defence counsel told the court the accused had been in a previous accident this year. As a result of Saturday's accident his car had been a wreck and Brand had disposed of it for junk for $12. The defendant would not drive again and had no desire to, Mr. Sifnot said.

Magistrate Jay noted the accused had been before him on August 9 when he was convicted after an accident, and at that time the court recommended cancellation of the driver's license because the accused was a student and carried no insurance.

Two former trustees, Walter Stansfeld and Arthur C. Pike, will be among the field of seven in quest of the posts.

Educationists Against Games

Newark, N.J., Dec. 4.—Forty United States educationists, presidents of colleges in twenty-seven states, recently joined in a request to the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and the American Olympic Committee for withdrawal of United States participation in the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin.

The announcement was made by Frank Kingston, president of Dana College, in behalf of the signatories, together with a signed statement setting forth reasons for requesting American withdrawal.

"It is our considered judgment," the statement said, "based upon the statement of the signatories, that the record of events that have transpired in Germany for the last two and a half years, that the inequities and discrimination practiced against Jews, Catholics, Protestants, Labor, Masons and all independents are perpetuated in the field of sports and in the Olympic Games."

Husband Should Be Given Help By His Wife

Says There Are Times When Wife Should Work

JACK AND GILL were a nice girl and boy who were very much in love with each other, and because their parents' wet-blanketed romance told them that hard times were no time to marry in, they eloped and got married anyway. At first they were very happy. Then Jack lost his job when payrolls began to be cut down, and Jill had to give up her work because there was a baby coming, babies apparently having a complex or something about wishing themselves on people who can't afford them.

Jack is an energetic young chap, full of pep and ambition, so he hustled out and got any kind of work that he could find. He brought in a dollar, but he has never had any steady job during the last two years. Now, however, he is offered a good position with a future to it with a reputable firm, but in order to get it he must put up a bond of several hundred dollars and he hasn't got the money.

So he appeals to Jill to go back to her old job and help him earn the money to get a start, but she refuses. She says that she can't leave the baby in hired hands, and that she wouldn't think of trusting it to a day nursery. It might get hurt, or be given the wrong food, or catch a contagious disease, or even know what might happen to it. And she feels that her first duty is to the baby, and, besides, it is a man's business to support the home and the wife's business to keep it. And so the argument stands and they asked me to referee their fight.

I think Jack is right in this particular case, and that in this crisis of their life it is Jill's duty to do anything she can to give him a boost, even if that involves working outside of her home, making the baby in a creche instead of giving him his bottle with her own hands.

There is much to be said on both sides of the question of the wage-earning wife. Undoubtedly it is true that when a man is spineless and indolent and self-indulgent by nature, he is still further weakened by his wife assuming the support of the family, and that when he finds that Mary can do it he sits down on the do-nothing stool and lets her do it.

Also, it is undoubtedly true that no woman can adequately fill two jobs, and that the woman who works outside of the home is bound to neglect the inside of it. Nor can any one else pinch-hit for a mother. Little children need a mother whom they can monopolize and whom they do not have to share with some business or career.

No one will deny that in the ideal marriage the husband makes the living and the wife makes the home. This is the division of labor that nature intended. For the woman who bears and rears children and who keeps a family comfortable and well fed and clothed has certainly pulled off a full-sized job. She should not have to both make the dough and bake it.

But unhappily conditions are not ideal in this messy old world, and it often happens that even the most industrious and capable of men and those who would be glad to support their families cannot earn enough to do it. Then it is that the double burden falls upon the wife and she shows her sportsmanship by the way she meets the situation. By whether she takes it standing up or lying down.

Thousands of young couples could not marry if modern girls did not have enough spunk and spirit to keep on with their jobs after marriage. Alone and unaided a man would be middle-aged before he would be able to assume the burdens of matrimony. The fire of youth would be burned out, the glamour gone from romance, the wedding cake grown stale. But with a wife who is an asset instead of a liability the story is changed and the young may marry while they are still young and ardent and in love.

Furthermore, every wife who loves her husband desires to be a helpmeet to him, and when she sees that she can be of greater assistance to him by earning a good salary that she could by patching his trousers or washing his shirts, who shall say that she is not fulfilling her duty by earning the money that will help him get a start outside of the home? Many a fortune has been founded on a wife's pay envelope.

And often it is even better for children that their mother should be a money-earner rather than their nurse, because she more than makes for the loss of her personal attention by giving them a better environment to live in, better food, better medical attention, a better education than they could otherwise have.

I am not advocating married women working out of the home. I think it is always a pity when they have to do so, but very often it is the wise, brave and right thing to do.

Uncle Wiggily And Lulu's Dress

By HOWARD H. GARIS

Lulu Wigglesworth was a duck girl. She had a sister named Alice and a brother named Jimmie. Jimmie was a duck boy, though he was a duck, as were Jackie and Pettie. Now, Lulu was a duck, and Alice, though she was a girl duck, wanted to be a boy. She was quite different from her sister Alice.

Alice always was dressing herself and her dolls very nicely and playing house with them, as did Jackie and Pettie, and Kitten Kat. Alice was what is called a romantic. She often quacked in verse or poetry like this:

"When I paddle out on the duck pond
The water tickles my feet
I see the blue sun behind the trees,
And I know the next day will be rainy."
Jimmie Wigglesworth said he didn't think that was very good poetry. He said Alice should have the last word rhyme with feathers.

"You ought to say 'the next day will be weather,'" suggested Jimmie, but Alice only laughed at him and said her way was best.

"ALL VERY SILLY!"

"It's all very silly," said poetry business, quacked Lulu. "I'd rather be able to throw a stone like Jimmie or Jackie than recite all the poetry in the world."

"Oh, you would, tumbler duck," said Alice, sort of sneering and superior. Then she walked off to play dolls with Kitten Kat, and Lulu went to watch her brother and some other animal boys play football.

After the game Mrs. Wigglesworth made Lulu and Alice put on clean dresses for the afternoon. Lulu didn't want to, but her mother said she must. So Lulu did. Though she wished she might be a boy duck she obeyed her mother.

When Lulu heard her brother and some of the other boy animals talk of going to the woods after the football game to have some fun, she decided she would trail along after them.

"They won't let me come with them if they see me," said Lulu to herself as she smoothed down the clean dress her mother had made her put on. "So I'll have to sneak along behind them. They get where they are going and I'm there they won't see me."

So Lulu followed the animal boys to the woods and trailed along after them, keeping out of their sight. She could hear them just ahead of her, but after a while she lost them. She could neither see nor hear them.

UP A TREE

"If I could get up in a tree I could see better," quacked Lulu. She could see Jimmie and the others then. Down on the ground the bushes are in my way. I'll fly up into a tree and look.

So Lulu, in her clean dress, flew up into a tree. She could see a long way then and she caught much of Jimmie and the other boys up ahead. They had built a fire and started to roast apples.

"Oh, joy!" quacked Lulu. "I'll join them." But when she tried to fly down out of the tree she found her dress was caught on a sharp branch and tangled around it so poor Lulu was held fast.

"Oh, help! Help! Help!" she quacked. "Save me somebody!"

The boys were too far away to hear her quacking. But Uncle Wiggily was hopping around in the woods looking for an adventure. He heard Lulu quack. He saw her caught by her dress up in the tree and he hurried to save her. Reaching up with his knife, the rabbit gentleman cut the branch on which Lulu's dress was tangled. Then she could fly down.

Her dress wasn't even torn, so careful was Uncle Wiggily. Then Lulu told him about the apple roast and he took her where the animal boys were having the picnic and they all had a jolly time. So if the duckling brush will please the gas stove to make it look like a tree, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Quackie's present.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1935

This is one of the rarely favorable days in planetary government according to astrology. It is especially lucky for those who seek success through advancement. Shopping is under a most promising sign. Mechanical and manufacturing will enjoy the profits of an unusually large holiday trade.

The stars encourage enterprise and inspire courage to those who invest money. Intensive expansion will be necessary for certain manufacturers. A better-to-day may bring a great national movement mobilizing the drives and mothers of the country.

This is a happy wedding day, since the stars promise much success through the inspiration of loving partnership. Many marriages will mark the winter.

70-day is an auspicious time for correspondence. A letter to-day may bring a Christmas present later in the month. Love initiatives are under a good direction of the stars.

While this configuration prevails those who have placed in the sun will enjoy many pleasant experiences. They will realize the many benefits of wealth and will be inclined to display their opulence. Warning is given that the farmers and others who have not yet reaped the long depression may be in recent mood. Threatening signs are read in the stars. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune. For many new positions and new interests are forecast.

Children born on this day probably will be inclined toward leadership. Subjects of this sign may have initiated their fellow men.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include Clinton Hart Merriam, United States cavalry officer, and General George A. Custer, United States cavalry officer.

Man Jailed Under Prevention Act

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 4.—Kenneth George Ward, refused entry to Canada by immigration officials last month, yesterday was sentenced to three months in jail for failing to notify police of his intention to leave the metropolitan district, as he was required to do under the Prevention of Crimes Act.

Police revealed Ward's long list of convictions for various crimes. He admitted that since his release from prison—April he had been arrested at times—once on a charge of "der. whi." was subsequently dropped by the crown.

Ward and his companion, Mrs. Claire Patten, were detained by immigration authorities when they arrived at Quebec on the liner Athenia. Mrs. Patten was sent back to England aboard the same ship. Ward was returned aboard the Ascania, reaching London November 25.

Aorangi Master Bids Farewell To Victoria

Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown Will Go Into Retirement When His Ship, Which Is Sailing To-day, Reaches Sydney; Interesting Career Closes

Down the Gangway

Bidding farewell to Victoria and Vancouver, into which ports he has been sailing for several years, Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown will sail this evening aboard the M. Aorangi and upon arrival at Sydney in three weeks will walk ashore into retirement. At the end of that time, if he should be able to do so, he will see what he can do.

For forty-eight years Capt. Spring-Brown has been sailing the sea lanes on big ships and little ships, in foul weather and fine, and old sailing ships and modern passenger liners. He has visited nearly every part of the world, but for most of his life he has been operating out of Australia ports. Australia is "home" to him now, although he was born in England. He went there when he was sixteen.

HIS FIRST SHIP
In July, 1888, Capt. Spring-Brown joined his first ship. She was the Queen of Scots, a full rigged vessel, and with her he went on a voyage that lasted four years and eight months, going from India to New York and thence to the Mauritius during the famous cyclone of 1893.

His next voyage, starting in 1893, took him aboard the Challenger from Bombay to Amsterdam and he had another set of adventures, including an outbreak of "beriberi" which wiped out half the crew, and made it necessary to have Challenger towed into the Dutch port.

Spring-Brown then joined the steamer Tyrion and returned to Australia. A few years later he joined the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. In 1910 he received his first command with that company. It was the Walnut, in the Australia-New Zealand run across the Tasman Sea.

WAR SERVICE
Like many another skipper of his own and other British fleets, he saw service with troop transports during the war, but this service, in Capt. Spring-Brown's case, was exceptionally varied and colorful. In command of the Mokoia and the Willochra he carried Anzac troops to Egypt and Palestine and after the war he carried German prisoners, captured during hostilities in British outposts, to Rotterdam. He went to London and picked up 750 men of the Highland Light Infantry, carrying them from London to Australia.

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Clayton of Duncombe came down to Victoria this morning and are waiting the sailing this evening of the Aorangi. They will sail on the ship for a winter voyage to New Zealand, Australia and Tasmania. They expect to return to their Vancouver Island home in the spring.

Several Victorians will be aboard the M. Aorangi when she sails this evening for Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney. Several of the passengers going out are destined to the Hawaiian Islands, where they will spend the winter months.

Among those embarking at this port this afternoon are G. A. Thomson, one of the officers of the coast steamer Princess Mary, going to New Zealand on vacation, accompanied by Mrs. Thomson; Capt. and Mrs. Tarrant of Beach Drive, also going to New Zealand; Rev. A. R. J. Symes of Mayne Island, bound for Sydney; Mrs. C. Jamieson, Master J. Jamieson and Miss M. J. Wilson, for Auckland; and Major V. J. Scantlebury, also for Auckland.

Passengers on the Aorangi destined to Australia will spend Christmas Day at sea, as their vessel steams towards Sydney from Auckland. Anticipating this great occasion, the liner's chef has prepared a Christmas menu and stored away a lot of Christmas trees and decorations while the ship was in Vancouver. Everything at present points to a "big day" for the travelers who will reach Sydney December 28.

Delayed at coast ports by fog and heavy freight consignments, the M. Hye Maru will not be off Victoria on her way to Japan until to-morrow afternoon. Among her passengers will be Mrs. V. A. Starr of Seattle, bound for Manila; Mrs. E. L. Hannaford and Miss Joan of Eagle Point, Oregon, also going to Manila; Mrs. Esther Klepp of Seattle, for Shanghai; David Hark, Mrs. M. L. Young and Miss Catherine Young, theatrical folk of Boston, en route to Shanghai; Maurizio Morla, a cotton merchant of Brazil, bound for Japan; T. Matsuzaki, a canneryman of Japan; Miss Agnes Strauberg of Shanghai, on a world voyage, and the young couple, Kawasumi and Yuki, lumbermen, bound for Tokyo.

A German woman who lives adventure and travel, Mrs. Lily S. Krug is in Victoria to-day aboard the outbound liner Aorangi on her way to the South Seas for the winter. She loves the sun and follows it whenever possible. She has lived in many tropical countries, including the Brazil and the Argentine, and once lived in a long sojourn in the Orient. She has also lived in Mexico and recently spent a year in the United States. She plans a short visit to Honolulu, where she once resided, and then expects to winter in the Fiji Islands and Tahiti. Mrs. Krug is a journalist.

Mr. Paul Sutor, who has been French consul-general in Vancouver for several years is among the passengers on the Aorangi, accompanied by Mrs. Sutor and their three daughters. Mr. Sutor has been appointed to represent his country in New Zealand and will take up his headquarters at Wellington. He will leave the Aorangi at Auckland.

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Clayton of Duncombe came down to Victoria this morning and are waiting the sailing this evening of the Aorangi. They will sail on the ship for a winter voyage to New Zealand, Australia and Tasmania. They expect to return to their Vancouver Island home in the spring.

STRIKE THREAT IN AUSTRALIA

All Coastwise Shipping at Melbourne Would Be Effected By Order

Canberra Press Cable via Reuter's Melbourne, Dec. 4.—Melbourne was threatened to-day with a strike affecting all coastwise shipping.

The local branch of the Seamen's Union, after rejecting a new arbitration award, tendered twenty-four hours' notice that they would walk off all ships arriving from home ports. Liners arriving from overseas would not be affected, it was said.

The government has given the strikers forty-eight hours in which to re-man the ships. Otherwise, it announced, it will apply a licensing system for seamen and take other "necessary" measures.

The union expressed willingness to negotiate with the shipowners on the basis of a forty-eight-hour week and the elimination of what it termed objectionable clauses in the award affecting working conditions and overtime rates.

Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown (inset) will leave the bridge of the M. Aorangi at Sydney in three weeks and will go into retirement at his home in Melbourne. His place on the Aorangi will be taken by Capt. T. V. Hill of the M. Niagara.

ANXIOUS FOR AIR SERVICE

U.S. Post Office Dept. Will Do Anything It Can to Start Atlantic Route

Washington, Dec. 4.—Postmaster-General James Farley said to-day he will ask the coming session of the United States Congress for funds to start transatlantic airmail service.

He said experimental flights would be started next summer, and the route probably would be in operation within the following year.

Postal officials said Pan-American Airways, which operate the new transatlantic line, is the only United States company interested in the route now.

Mr. Farley said four foreign aviation interests had conferred with postal officials on the question of co-operation in a transatlantic service. These included the Royal Dutch Airlines, the Luftwaffe German airline, a British promoter and an informal French mission. A second British group, representing the Imperial Airways, was in the capital to-day and the French mission was expected to return later in the year with more definite proposals.

Harley Branch, Second Assistant Postmaster-General in charge of airmail, said the southern route by way of Bermuda and the Azores to southern Europe, was being favored at present.

Although many aviation experts preferred the shorter northern route from Nova Scotia to northern Ireland, Branch said most experts agreed "you can't fly the year around on the northern route, at least for several years."

Mr. Farley said any air mail contract for transatlantic service would have to go to a United States company, using United States equipment and a United States crew.

A sub-committee to share the flights with a foreign concern would be "out of the question," he said.

GETS PROMOTION

BANFF GUIDE SAILS TO-DAY

Hawlians soon will hear tall tales of the Banff hills told in his own inimitable fashion by Col. Phil A. Moore. Banff guide and raconteur extraordinaire, who is sailing on the Aorangi to-day for Honolulu. Col. Moore is accompanied by Mr. Moore, the former Pearl Brewster, and their daughter Edna.

Col. and Mrs. Moore dropped into Vancouver Monday from their snow-covered Banff hills with Carl Runquist, the celebrated animal painter and naturalist, and Mrs. Bungula. The artist and his wife left the Moore in Vancouver, continuing their trip to Los Angeles for a California vacation.

One of the world's best-known sportsmen, Col. Moore was a noted athlete in his Princeton days, and in 1900 held the United States Intercollegiate polo vault title. He went to Banff as a young man, associated himself with the well-known Brewster family as a packer and guide and had earned a wide reputation in this capacity until the war opened up new worlds of adventure for him. He is a brilliant overseas service as a valued member of the British general staff, where his experience as a woodsman and guide proved successful.

Following the war, for many years, Col. Moore, with other sportsmen, Indian chiefs, cowboys and wranglers, visited New York's Madison Square Garden for the old "Sportsmen's Show," which did much to make Banff better known in Col. Moore's native United States. He recalls the time when a press agent conceived the idea of having the cowboys, with their homes, photographed from the top of the city's then highest building and the threat of several otherwise daring horse wranglers to quit on the spot if their theatrical duties included "ridin' herd on the milky way."

Carl Runquist, currently president of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, is devoting considerable time to the furtherance of this unique organization which aims to open up new scenic trails to nature lovers and re-open the old Indian and early explorers' routes.

Rated perhaps the greatest living wild animal painter in the world, Carl is a regular exhibitor in New York and other world centres and left New York nearly thirty years ago to take up permanent residence in Banff. He liked the Rockies like him. His studies of grizzly are enough to scare a short-sighted man into an early grave, and he is equally at home with big horn sheep, mountain goats or elk.

Consolidated to Own 55 Per Cent of Shares in Westminster Property

New Westminster, Dec. 4.—Pacific Coast Terminals Ltd. will be reorganized by a new company in which the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada will hold 55 per cent of the stock, the New Westminster City Council has been informed by W. B. Langlan, Victoria, representing the mining company.

Mr. Langlan stated the company was prepared to invest $270,000 cash in the new company providing the council gave a guarantee on taxation. The request was granted, the council passing a resolution that the assessment of property be fixed for a twelve-year period so taxes do not exceed $21,000 a year.

The resolution must be ratified by provincial order-in-council or by civic by-law.

Mr. Langlan said the Consolidated was prepared to concentrate all its export tonnage here.

The new company is being formed by the Montreal Trust Company. The city annually pays $21,000 interest on a second mortgage bond issue, the sum being offset by taxes from the property.

Mr. Langlan stated he had the authority of J. J. Warren, president of the mining company, to say that unless taxes were guaranteed the company would not put up the money to buy control of the terminals.

Instead the Consolidated concern would acquire dock facilities in Vancouver.

Seventy per cent of New Westminster's export cargo in 1934 was composed of products of the Consolidated Company.

MUST REDUCE DEATH RATE

Maternal Mortality Too High in Canada, McGill Doctor Says

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Urgent need for a campaign to reduce the high maternal death rate in this country was voiced last night by Dr. W. W. Chipman of Montreal, emeritus professor of obstetrics and gynecology at McGill University, in an address before the Canadian Welfare Council here.

In an average year 200,000 babies were born in Canada, and in the process 1,200 mothers died and 23,000 were more or less permanently disabled, Dr. Chipman said.

He attributed the present Canadian maternal death rate to inadequate care of the mother during pregnancy in 36 per cent of cases, lack of nursing or hospital facilities in 10 per cent, carelessness of the patient in 18 per cent, and mistakes on the part of physician, nurse or midwife in 36 per cent.
